COOLIDGE IN DENIAL

SAYS NORRIS CHARGE FALSE

WASHINGTON, April 28.—President Coolidge today issued a formal denial that he had ever said he "was trying to deliver Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford or anyone else."

Mr. Coolidge was quoted in a telegram read in the senate agriculture committee today as saying that he hoped Ford would not do or say anything that would "make it difficult to deliver Muscle Shoals to him, as I am trying to do."

The president's statement follows:

"My position on Muscle Shoals is fully stated in my message to the congress, delivered December 6, where I said:

"'The government is undertaking to develop a great water power project known as Muscle Shoals on which it has expended many million dollars. The work is still going on. Subject to the right to retake in time of war, I recommend that this property with a location for auxiliary steam plan and right of way, be sold. This would end the present burden of expense and should return to the treasury the largest price possible to secure.

"'While the price is an important element, there is another consideration even more compelling—the agriculture of the nation needs a greater supply and lower cost of fertilizer. This is now imported in large quantities. The best information I can secure indicates that present methods of power production would not be able profitably to meet the price at which these imports can be sold. To obtain a supply from its water power would require long and costly experimentation to perfect a process for cheap production. Otherwise our purpose would fail completely. It seems desirable therefore, in order to protect and promote the public welfare, to have adequate covenants that such experimentation be made and carried on to success. The great advantage of low priced nitrates must be secured from the direct benefit of the farmers and the indirect benefit of the public in time of peace and of the government in time of war. If this main object be accomplished, the amount of money received for the property is not a primary or major consideration.'"

RESCUE SQUADS START LABORS

BENWOOD, W. Va., April 28.—Rescue workers proceeded slowly today at the Benwood mine of the Wheeling Steel corporation in which more than a hundred miners were entombed by a gas explosion.

Up to 3 p. m. the office of the mine superintendent reported only two men rescued. These were found near the mouth of the mine, stunned by the force of the blast, but not seriously injured.

Word brought to thes urface was that great masses of rock and dirt was hindering the work of the rescue parties. Little progress was being made, it was admitted.

Hope that the entombed men would be brought out alive diminished somewhat as this news was whispered about the waiting groups of men, women and children, mostly relatives of the imprisoned miners.

The explosion occurred about three miles back, it has been established.

Some of the rescue workers came up from time to time and were eagerly pounced upon by the watchers. They predicted it would be hours before the tons of rock could be removed to liberate the men.

BENWOOD, W. Va., April 28.—Rescue squads from the bureau of mines car which arrived here from Pittsburgh shortly before noon, following entombing of 104 miners by an explosion, broke up into two groups and six men started into the mine at the Browns run opening and six men worked their way into the slope of the main entrance.

The Browns' run opening had been cleared of debris before the rescue squad arrived so they immediately descended to a level of 1,500 feet.

The rescuers working at Browns' run found the two miners in a dazed condition and immediately carried them to the surface. The men saved were not suffering from gas but were badly bruised from rocks and dirt thrown by the blast.

Word was sent to the surface that the cave-in was not as bad as was first expected and hope was held out that the other entombed miners mould be rescued alive.

Air was circulated thru the corridors of the mine and there was little gas. The fact that no fire followed the explosion raised the hopes that all the men would be saved.

STOCK CONVENTION CALLED OFF

Meeting Had Been Scheduled for Los Angeles in May.

OMAHA, April 28.—The national livestock convention which was to have been held in Los Angeles in May has been called off because of fear of spreading the California epidemic of the foot and mouth disease to other parts of the country, according ot word received by stockmen here today.

OMAHA, April 28.—Parts of a human hand, including two fingers, were found in a g allon bottue of whisky which three boys discovered near Twenty-second and Poppleton streets today. The find was turned over to police for investigation.

CHAMPION WOMAN HORSESHOE PITCHER

Mrs. Laura Lanham, of Bloomington, Ill., is recognized as the champion woman horseshoe pitcher. After issuing a challenge at her home. She is a left hand twirler and tosses the equine boots on the regulation forty-foot court, instead of using the thirty-foot throw used by many women. Mrs. Lanham prefers to match her skill against men on their own home grounds.

BANDITS DEFY COPS DEADLINE

NEW YORK, April 28.—Defying the police deadline and working rapidly in daylight, three bandits beat a man and a woman and obtained $210,000 in diambnds and platinum from Charles Kresney & Co., downtown jewelers, today.

Charles Kresney, proprietor of the company, was engaged in openinng his place of business when three swarthy men beat him insensible with revolver butts and tied him to the leg of a table while they set about rifling the shop. A scrub woman was knocked on the head and locked in a wash room.

MAKES BID FOR THIRD PARTY

By Lawrence K. Martin,
Copyright, 1924, by United Press

WASHINGTON, April 28. — In Hiram Johnson's latest threat to sever all connection with the republican part, some observers see a bid for the third party nomination. But to this suggestion the leaders of the independent movement are returning an emphatic negative.

The political future of the California senator, there fore, bids fair to be comparable to the fate of that man who had no country. He has won the enmity of the regular republicans, and has not gained the trust of the liberals. He seems to be fated to pass finally from the ranks of those who figured materially in national politics.

Some of Johnson's friends had hopes that the LaFollette nidependents might find the Californian, with his aggressiveness in campaigning, and his appeal to audiences, a fitting standard bearer for the movement which is now rolling behind LaFollette. The Wisconsin senator who is keeping silent while his supporters are working hard for him in a dozen or more states, is in no shape physically to withstand the rigors of a presidential campaign. His family is understood to bave vetoed all suggestions that her un, knowing he would be nedangering his life. But if LaFollette does not run what will become of the independent movement is the question being asked.

LaFollette's name will be on the ballott in from seven to a dozen states, unless he keeps it off by main force. The political power he represents today is uncomputed, because uncertain, but it is very great. But it is 90 per cent LaFollette power, and not even LaFollette could transfer it to Johnson, even if he wished to, which he does not.

Johnson might stand in better repute with the progressives had he not, during the early days of the Harding regime, put himself in the position of trying to appear "regular." His failure to vote on Newberry and his support of the tariff are still remembered by progressives. This phase of his political development was succeeded by a gradual breaking away from the administration, that break culminating in the announcement of his candidacy. On the issue Johnson then raised Mr. Coolidge soundly whipped him.

Indications point to more prosperous days for the stockmen, and those interested in sheep now are getting handsome returns on their investments, C. M. Simpson, acting president of the Montana livestock association, declared in an address to the livestock association.

House leaders expect to be able to adjourn June 1.

BULGARIA SEES BALKAN WAR PERIL ENDED

"If the negotiations recently concluded or now approaching conclusion are successful the danger of war will be averted in the Balkans for many years," declared Foreign Minister Kalloff at Sofia, Bulgaria.

The latest of these agreements, that with Rumania, will be signed in two or three days. The preliminary agreement already signed provides for joint action to prevent incursions across the Rumanian frontier, with two mixed commissions sitting. A blanket agreement covering all points of possible dispute, including payment by Bulgaria for the war seizures, is practically completed.

The agreement with Jugo-Slavia is working out well. The situation between the two countries is considerably eased.

The negotiations of the mixed commission regarding Greece is proceeding with excellent prospects of early agreement. The chief difficulty there is the question of repatriating and reestablishing the refugees.

We look forward to the time when the Balkan states shall cooperate instead of disagreeing. As a defeated country, we are especially desirous of earning the sympathy of the great powers which is indispensable to the resumption of our normal life."

INSTALL A NEW UNI TRADITION

New Annual Banquet Spnosored by Alumni Is Arranged for Increasing Membership in University Fraternities.

Final arrangements for the inter-fraternity scholarship banquet, sponsored by the alumni of the various fraternities, were completed at a meeting of the inter-fraternity council at the chamber of commerce Monday ncon and May 7 set as the date for the banquet.

This banquet, sponsored by the alumni in the hope of raising the scholarship of the fraternities at Nebraska university, will be held each year for the purpose of awarding bronze scholarship plaques to the fraternities having the lowest percentage of delinquencies for the past year.

The plaques are to be made of bronze and the figures and inscriptions thereon will be symbolic of fraternity ideals. In order to arrive at a fair average on which to make the awards, the scholarship committee of the council will add the number of delinquencies of all the fraternities together and from the total strike an average. All fraternities having an average scholarship higher than the average of all fraternities will receive a bronze placque to adorn the walls of the chapter house for the ensuing year.

It is the plan of the fraternity alumni to bring some nationally known man to the banquet each year to address the fraternity men assembled. A vote taken among the men of the council now active in school resulted in the decision to close all tables at the frat houses on the night of the banquet in order to secure a large turnout for the banquet.

SEEKING HUSBAND OF WANDA STOPA

DETROIT, April 28.—Wanda Elaine Stopa, brilliant girl lawyer, and leading spirit in many of the gay celebartions in Chicago's Latin quarter, took her life in a hotel here, because she had been repudiated by her husband, Ted Glasgow, to whom she appealed for aid.

This was the theory adavnced by Y. Kenley Smith, wealthy Chicago advertising man, whose romance with the girl climaxed with her shooting Henry Manning, caretaker of his suburban home, in an attempt to kill Mrs. Smith, and then ended by her drinking poison here in the seclusion of her hotel room while the police were searching for her thruout the middle west.

Smith told the Chicago police he believes Glasgow—who often spells his name Glaco wand is said to have represented himself as a Russian nobleman—is in hiding in Detroit's foreign section.

No Other Motive.

"I believe Wanda went to Detroit to see him and took her life after he refused to come to her financial aid." Smith told Chicago detectives. "I can think of no other reason why she should go to Detroit. Glasgow is known to have spent a large part of his time in that city."

The girl's husband, Chicago detectives say, has a police record and was in troble a short time ago over alleged check-passing activities. He is also said to have served terms in two penal institutions.

The Detroit police, in reviewing this theory, attach a great deal of significance to the fact that Mrs Stopa registered as Mrs. Theodore Glacow and had only $50 besides a small amount of clothing in her possession when she was found dead.

Friends Claim Body.

Miss Stopa was given a good—and even a beautiful—character in a sort of passing valedictory by one of her former associates, who out of friendship for her came to Detroit to take the body back to the old and broken mother who awaits it in Chicago.

The former associate was Charles T. Beisel, and artist, who said he knew Wanda well, and was likewise a friend of Smith. Mr. Beisel, in fact, said he formerly lived in the same building in which Wanda subleased an apartment from the Smiths at 19 East Ohio street, at that time the center of a smlal artistic circle of which Wanda was the reigning favorite. Her popularity, he said, was not due to her beauty alone, tho that was great, but to her youthful vivacity, the brilliancy of her wit, the gentleness of her disposition and the refinement of her demeanor. He also said there was no surface indication of more than a comradely friendship between her and Smith.

Husband an "Outsider."

The marriage of Wanda to Glasgow, which took place three years ago, was no more than an incident in Wanda's life, Mr. Beisel added. They soon separated and even during the brief span of their married life together Glasbow's presence among the artists was not encouraged.

Wanda was born in Poland, not far from Warsaw, and came to America at an early age, Mr. Beisel continued. At an early age too, she left school, for her father, tho a sculptotr of some skill, was no money-maker, and Wanda had to become a stenographer to contribute to the support of the family.

Mrs. Smith was usually present at the studio parties in which her husband and Wanda participated, according to Mr. Beisel.

While the body was at the undertaking establishment it was viewed by Mr. and Mrs. James C. Howell. Both said they knew Miss Stopa and Smith, but declined to make any comment on the double tragedy, except to state the belief that Smith was responsible for the romance taking the turn it did.

MORTIMER SCHIFF WILL SPEAK IN OMAHA MAY 7

OMAHA, April 28.—Mortimer L. Schiff, partner in the New York banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and widely known philanthropist, will speak on "Wall Street" at a public luncheon to be given in his honor at the chamber of commerce here May 7. Walter W. Head, Omaha, president of the American Bankers' association, will preside at the luncheon.

COMMITS SUICIDE BY EXPLODING DYNAMITE

OTTAWA, Ont., April 28. Lying on the bed at his home, George Gagnier, forty, committed suicide today by exploding a stick of dynamite lying on his chest. The house was damaged by the explosion and Gagnier's body was badly mutilated.

Previously to igniting the dynamite Gagnier sent his daughter from the house. He was separated from his wife.

ONE IMPORTANT TASK REMAINING

WASHINGTON, April, 28.—With but one important task remaining for consideration—the McNary-Haughen farm relief bill—the house today had all but completed its session's legislative program.

While the senate has been the focus of public attention during its series of spectacular investigations, the house has plugged along, proving itself the working legislative body of congress this session.

Te bonus, taxes, appropriations, immigration, Muscle Shoals, child labor amendment—all have been passed and sent over to the senate.

With so much accomplished, the house faces the necessity of solving the farm relief problem as the one final barrier to be surmounted before completing the session's program.

Chairman Haughen of the agriculture committee is seeking a special rule to expedite consideration of the McNary-Haughen bill which would create a $200,000,000 government corporation to deal in basic farm products.

MA LDAUGHERTY IS PUT UNDER ARREST

Warrant Issued by Senate Is Served at Cincinnati, But Accused Asks Writ of Habeas Corpus.

CINCINNATI, O., April 28.—Mal S. Daugherty, Washington Court House banker, who ignored summonses to appear before the Daugherty investigating committee, was arrested on a warrant issued by the United States senate today.

After accepting service, Daugherty went with his attorneys to Federal Judge Hickenlooper's court and asked for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent being compelled to go to Washington.

NEBRASKA LAKES OVERFLOW

Sandhill Region Reports Much Good Hay Land Temporarily Worthless for Taxation.

State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith has received information indicating some loss of property values for taxation in the lake region in northwestern Nebraska on account of the gradual increase in the depth of water in lakes. In Morrill county where water was eight feet deep twenty years ago it is now fourteen feet. The county and local assessors assess beds of lakes once dry but filled with water but they have decisions on account of the destruction of hay lands in the grazing region hay land is valuable.

It is alleged these lakes are subject to gradual change and that a complete change takes place in a cycle of twenty years. The lakes now contain more water than was ever known. It is expected that in time they will again be dry and produce good hay. The lands are therefore carried on the assessors books, but at a reduced value.

AWAIT MARTIN'S ARRIVAL

Flyers to Resume Round World Flight When Major in Command Reaches Dutch Harbor.

DUTCH HARBOR, Unalaska, April 28.—Arrival of Maj. Frederick L. Martin, flight commander from Chignik, Alaska, was awaited today by his three companions for resumption of the American round the world flight.

The gale which has swept this section for the last several days moderated. While it was not known definitely what the conditions might be between here and Chignik, all were hopeful of favorable flying weather for the commander today and tomorrow.

Martin is expected to make a non stop flight from Chignik, where he landed Friday night after a remarkable trip in the teeth of a blinding snow storm from Kanatak to Dutch Harbor.

The planes of Lieutenants Lowell Smith, Leigh Wade and Erik Nelson and Leigh Wade, which are moored to huge concrete blocks on the shore here, have not been damaged in the storm.

The three Army aviators awaiting Major Martin's arrival have devoted themselves to seeing the sights of Dutch Harbor. At midnight Saturday night they attended Russian Easter services at the Russian chapel here.

NORRIS SPRINGS SENSATION

BLAST BURIES 104 MINERS

Benwood, W. Va., Is Scene of Pit Disaster.

BEGIN WORK OF RESCUE

No Fire Is Caused by the Gas Blast.

Terrific Explosion Closes Entrance and Cuts Off Escape—Mine Rescue Car Is Sent From Pittsburgh.

BENWOOD, W. Va., April 28.—Rescue of 104 men entombed by a by an explosion at the Wheeling Steel corporation mine here, were brought to the surface by rescue workers early this afternoon.

Two miners, both reported dead, were pulled to the top and taken to a local hospital.

Officials of the Benwood mine this afternoon announced that 104 men received their "checks" for entering the mine today. While they stated that some men might have entered the slope without "checking in," it was believed that the number of men entombed would not be more than 104.

BENWOOD, W Va., April 28.—Rescue of 114 men entombed by a gas explosion at the Wheeling Steel corporation mine here this morning started today with the arrival of mine cars from Pittsburgh and Clarksburg.

Trained workers, with their peculiar looking apparatus descended into the mine at once, aided by scores of miners recruited from surrounding pits.

The explosion caused no fire, officials of the mine announced, which increased the chance of the entombed men being brought out alive.

The usual scenes attended the rescue work. Hundreds gathered around the mine mouth, many of them women and children.

Officials of the Benwood mine had no details. One hundred and twenty five men went into the mine at 7 a. m.

Eleven of these escaped the explosion. The miners who escaped donned gas masks and led the searching parties back into the mine mouth.

The explosion occurred about a mile from the entrance of the mine, which is a "slope" mine. An opening in the mine at Browns Run, two and a half miles from the entrance, was choked up by the rocks and dirt hurled by the blast.

It is believed the rescue squads will attempt to reach the entombed men thru the entrance of the mine, and also attempt to force an entrance thru the Browns Run opening.

MADE A FEW HUNDRED ONLY

Beach Line Railroad Carried 231,678 Passengers During the Year of 1923.

The annual report of the Lincoln, Capital Beach & Milford railway, which operates between the city and the beach had but $364.62 of an operating income last year. It has just been filed with the state railway commission.

Operating revenues were $18,836.03 and expenses $18,471.21. It had a miscellaneous income of $667, bringing the total net to $31,031.82. Out of this it had to pay $556.54 taxes, leaving $475.28, which it passed to surplus. The total surplus is now $6,717.46, and the total property value $46,321.56.

The company carried 231,678 passengers last year, not including 82,964 transfers. Three hundred and eighty-seven shares of stock have been issued. The holders are: Paul H. Holm, 20; S. H. CIGARET CAUSES BIG FIRE

Lowell, Mass., Blaze Costs Life and Half Million Property Damage

LOWELL, Mass., April 28.—A smouldering cigaret carelessly tossed on the floor, is believed to have caused the fire here Sunday which destroyed seven buildings in the heart of the city.

One fireman, Capt Edward P. Cunningham was killed when a wall buckled and he was buried beneath an avalanche of stones. Eight other firemen were injured by falling debris.

It is estimated the damage will amount to more than $500,000.

SAY PRICE IS TOO LOW

LOCAL MILK SITUATION UNSATISFACTORY TO PRODUCER.

Dairy Expert Says Reason Is Separator Is Left to Lie Idle While Sweet Milk Inundates the Markets.

The local milk situation is not satisfactory to the producers, who complain that too much milk is being offered here with the result that prices are away down. A. L. Haecker, former head of the dairy husbandry department of the state college, asked about this Monday, said that there is no overproduction of milk here or in Douglas county, but that an over supply of sweet milk is being forced on the market by dairymen. He says the whole situation can be corrected by a greater use of the separator.

Mr. Haecker says there always has been trouble of this character in and about the large cities, and the only way it can be handled is by turning the milk to other channels. Dane county, Wisconsin, has many times more cows than has Lancaster or Douglas county, but there is no complaint of over production there because it has ninety-nine cheese factories, thirty-one creameries and four condenseries, all bidding for milk and cream.

"There are sections in Nebraska," added Mr. Haecker, "where many farmers do not keep a single cow on the farm. They depend for their supply on canned milk. Some of these men sell their alfalfa in Wisconsin and then buy canned milk. Many of our counties raise three or four times as much alfalfa as they feed. As the feed is the big expense in dairying, it is easy to see how big an economic waste is going on about us.

"Our difficulty is meeting competition is largely brought about by our poor producing cows and uneconomic methods of feeding. Nebraska cows are averaging around 100 pounds of butterfat per animal, and we are trying to compete with states where the average is between 200 and 300 pounds. Ther are many counties in the state in need of good cows."

WELFARE OF NEW CAPITOL

T. R. KIMBALL MEETS WITH COMMISSIONERS.

Goodhue's Will May Direct His Assistants—American Institute May Recommend Architect If One Is Needed.

Thomas R. Kimball of Omaha, former president of the American institute of architects, conferred with the capitol commission Monday forenoon at the request of the commission. The conference was for the purpose of discussing plans for the continuation of work on the new capitol. In view of the sudden death of Bertram G. Goodhue, the commission's architect and designer of the building, the commission is desirous of knowing what legal steps should be taken to continue the contract in the event the estate of Mr. Goodhue is prepared to proceed with the work of carrying out the plans of Mr. Goodhue. Whether or not it is necessary to select a new architect or to continue the fire year contract with the Goodhue estate are questions that have arisen. The commission will discuss every phase of the case before conferring wit hthe administrator of Goodhue.

Mr. Kimball was professional adviser of the commission when it called for a competitive contest of architects of the country which resulted in the selection of Mr. Goodhue and his design and plans for the new capitol now in course of construction. He is now in charge of the publications of the American Institute of architects. He helped draw the contract between Goodhue and the state commission.

"I do not know what the commission desires of me," said Mr. Kimball when he arrived at the capitol Monday. "I do not anticipate any difficulty between the commission and the estate of Mr. Goodhue in regard to a continuation of the work. "I believe something will be found in Mr. Goodhue's will in regard to the carrying on of work which is uncompleted at the time of his death. His ideas of what should be done in the event of his death will doubtless be incorporated in his will.

"If the administrator or estate does not feel like continuing the work on the Nebraska capitol I am sure the American Institute will be willing to aid by recommending an able architect who could proceed with the Goodhue plans, which are practically completed. I think that could be done without extra cost to the state of Nebraska. No doubt the capitol commission feels morally bound to the people of Nebraska to carry out the plans originally adopted."

The commissioners at the conference with Mr. Kimball were Governor Bryan, W. H. Thompson, W. E. Hardy and Roy Cochran, secretary of the Nebraska department of public works. W. L. Younkin, who has served as a personal representative of the commission and Mr. Goodhue since the work of construction started, was present.

Supreme Court Holds National Bank Cannot Be Denied Exercise of Trust Powers.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The supreme court today held that a national bank could not be denied the privilege to exercise trust powers by the laws of a state.

The supreme court of Missouri ruled that the Burns National bank of St. Joseph, Mo., was prohibited from acting as an executor by the laws of Missouri. The bank appealed on the ground that national banks operating under federal statutes, cannot be regulated in this respect by state laws.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Lincoln has again become a member of the Western league, and is now lined up with such cities as Omaha, Des Moines, Denver an others as large or larger than Lincoln; that the business men of Lincoln realize that Class A baseball is an asset to this city, is evidenced by the promptness with which they subscribed the money to purchase the ball park.

The chamber of commerce and the Lincoln lodge of Elks are behind the movement for a bumper crowd to witness the opening game at Landis field at 3:45 Tuesday, April 29, and it is to be hoped that every red-blooded citizen of Lincoln will lend his or her aid to make this opening game a success.

It is not my intention to ask the business houses of Lincoln to close as that would be working a hardship upon them, but I do hope that every business and industry in Lincoln will arrange to let such of their employes off at 3:30 who really wish to witness the opening game.

Lincoln owes it to the Western league to see that the crowd is equal to any opening day attendance on the circuit.

LONG TRIP IN SNOW TO ENTER COLLEGE

JOSEPHINE IRBY.

Miss Josephine Irby, of Daniel, Wyo., a senior co-ed in the University of Wyoming, was caught during the spring vacation at her home, 125 miles from a railroad, by the recent blizzard. Determined to reach Laramie in time for the term opening, she fought her way thru snow drifts nine feet high, the first six miles with a dog team, the next fifteen coasting on a toboggan, completing the other hundred miles on a motor truck to Rock Springs, where she boarded a train—and got to school on time.

EXTEND CITY FIRE LIMITS

ORDINANCE INCLUDES A STRIP ALONG ROCK ISLAND.

Deputy City Attorney Reminded of an Opinion He Was Asked to Give on Proper Way to Deposit Funds.

An ordinance introduced at Monday's council meeting brings the site of the new home of the Roberts Dairy between Twentieth and Twenty-first and M and N streets, within the city's fire limits. It does more than that. It extends the fire limits to include the strip extending three blocks from Eighteenth to Twenty-first and between M and N. At the southeast corner of Nineteenth and N, garages are involved. West of the Roberts' site are some frame tenements. The ordinance means that when these are replaced it must be with fireproof structures.

Another ordinance presented Monday complies with a request from the county that the city strike from its possessions the west side of Fourteenth street from Belmont avenue north. The county desires to pave and also to draw on the inheritance fund. The entire Fourteenth street strip from Holdrege to Belmont avenue is now county property.

Deputy City Attorney Wilke was reminded of an opinion he had been called upon to give in respect to the proper way of depositing city funds. Mr. Cowgill objects to the method which has always been followed and which apparently meets the approval of bonding companies. It also is the method used by county treasurers and the state treasurer. Mr. Dayton does and always has deposited city funds in the name of George Dayton, city treasurer. Mr. Cowgill wants it changed to city of Lincoln, George Dayton, treasurer.

Altho Mr. Wilke had not prepared an opinion, his off-hand theory is that the treasurer himself is custodian of the funds of the city and that such funds naturally should be deposited in his name. He is bonded and the banks receiving city deposits are bonded to him.

The new water ordinance, a rewrite of the old law governing rates, service, methods, etc., was up for third reading and passage. Mr. Cowgill offerd a yellow stall courtesy resolution for the benefit of merchants who are without alley entrance and exit. The purpose is to give them a chance to get in and out.

RAILROADS WIN SUITS

TAX CASES SENT BACK TO FEDERAL COURT FOR TRIAL.

Supreme Court Overrules Holding of Judges Lewis and Munger That State Statutes Are Adequate.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The suits of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago and Northwestern and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroads challenging the taxes levied against them in Nebraska were returned to federal district court for Nebraska for trial by the supreme court today.

In this decision the lower court which previously had ruled it was not empowered to hear the railroad suits was reversed and directed to hear them.

The sole question at issue was whether the state statutes providing that the aggrieved railroads must file an appeal with the state supreme court within a certain time. That was the way the Rock Island took its appeal, and secured a reversal in the state courts.

Judge Lewis of Denver, Judge Munger of Lincoln and Judge Woodrough of Omaha heard the argument in the cast in Omaha a year ago. The wto first-named held that the statutes provided an entirely adequate remedy, while Judge Woodrough held the contrary.

Hugh Lamaster, of the attorney general's staff, who was one of the state's representatives, said that he would have to await a copy of the decision before saying whether there are grounds for a motion for rehearing.

If the case is sent back the trial will be on the set of facts submitted. the railroads contending, as the state supreme court recently decided, that they were being taxed on their full value, at least, while farmers and lot owners and holders of other property were taxed much lower. They submitted a mass of figures at the previous trial to show that farm lands were deliberately assessed by the state at 68 per cent of their sale value, under direction of the state assessor.

The Burlington claims that the valuation placed upon its properties is in excess of any value obtained by any of the standard methods.

The three roads have tied up at least half a million in taxes levied by state, county and school districts, which the state will lose if the railroads can prove their claims now that they have the chance.

CUTS MRS. SMITH'S TOTAL

Error in Primary Returns Leaves Mr. Jefferis, Delegate, With High Vote in Douglas.

John B. Shanahan, secretary of the Douglas county Coolidge club, has informed Secretary of State Pool that an error has been found in the official returns from Douglas county in the vote cast for Mrs. Draper Smith, republican candidate for delegate to the national convention. He understands 3,308 should be deducted, leaving her total vote 11,369 instead of 14,177. If this is correct A. W. Jefferis of Omaha leads the republican delegates at large in Douglas with a total vote of 14,140.

The secretary of state finds that H. S. King of York was incorrectly certified to his office as the nominee for representative on the democratic ticket in the fifty-third district. Mr. King was a candidate for clerk of the district court, not for representative. John Morgan of York, democrat, was renominated for representative instead of Mr. King.

Secretary Pool has not yet called the state canvassing board in special session to settle a tie between State Treasurer Robinson and Louis Langhorst for the prohibition nomination for state treasurer. Each received three votes. Neither was a candidate on the prohibition ballot.

COURT HOLDS FOR DEFENCE

MRS. WALLACE ENTIRELY COMPETENT, SAYS COURT.

County Judge's Decision in the Balster-Wallace Romance Is Reversed by Judge Stewart in Monday Decree.

The furniture polish romance, the Lancaster county edition of the Keiser-Buell case, turned out just as Mrs. Minnie Balster-Wallace wanted it to and they are going to live happily ever after. Judge Stewart in an order signed Monday morning reversed the decision of County Judge Reid, declared the guardianship over Mrs. Balster-Wallace dissolved and stated that she is not insane, and has displayed good judgment in handling her property.

Mrs. Balster's children, Robert N. Balster and Verona Balster-Sanden, dissaproved of their mother's recent marriage to Alva M. Wallace, whom they charge married their mother for her money, and had the Federal Trust Co., appointed guardian over their mother's property.

Back in November 1921, Mr. Wallace came to Mrs. Balster's home at Normal and sold her a bottle of furniture polish. That incident strated the whole trouble. He came back the following Sunday for dinner, and a week later moved in as star boarder.

Soon after he took up residence in her home she began going around the country with him selling furniture polish. On one of these trips while in Fremont, Mr. Wallace received a check from a customer and either thru a mistake on the check or at the bank, the check, supposedly issued for seventy-five cents was cashed for $75. This incident landed the star boarder in jail.

Mrs. Balster came to Lincoln and immediately attempted to borrow some money on her property, which consists of a house and twelve lots south of the Bailey sanitarium at Normal, and her children hearing of this feared Mr. Wallace would get hold of the money, and had a guardian appointed over their mother.

Mr. Wallace was released from the Fremont jail two months later but their marriage was postponed indefinitely because he was not sure that he was free from Mrs Wallace No. 1. Subsequent information to the effect that she had divorced him made him free to marry and the ceremony was performed on New Year's Eve last.

At the hearing before Judge Stewart April 20, Mrs. Balster stated that her children were to blame for the whole trouble and that her son was disgruntled because she refused to marry his father-in-law and chose Mr Wallace in his stead.

Mrs Wallace states that she and her husband will now dispose of her Normal properties, valued at $12,000 and will go to California. She states that she has harbored that desire for several years, it having been inspired by her reading the Sunset magazine.

Judge Stewart in his opinion stated that he found nothing on record here that would warrant her in competency to handle her own affairs, on the contrary stated that the record showed that she had [illegible] and [illegible]

STATEMENT QUOTED REGARDING SHOALS

President Alleged To Have Said Trying To Give Project To Ford.

DATED OCTOBER 12, 1923

"Hope Ford Does Not Make It Hard for Me."

WEEKS DISCREDITS MESSAGE

Word From President on the Matter Is Expected Later in Afternoon—Telegram to Ford's Secretary.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—A sensation was sprung in the senate agriculture committee today when Chairman Norris read into the record a telegram in which President Coolidge was quoted as saying he hoped Henry Ford would not do or say anything "that will make it difficult for me to deliver Muscle Shoals to him as I am trying to do."

The telegram which was one of a number of turned over to the committee under a subpoena to a local telegraph company, was sent to "William J. Cameron or Ernest C. Liebold, care Dearborn Independent, Detroit, Mich." By "James Martin Miller, national press club, Washington."

Liebold is Ford's private secretary.

The message, dated October 12, 1923, was read into the record by Norris and reads as follows:

"In private interview with President Coolidge this morning he said incidentally, 'I am friendly to Mr. Ford but wish some one would convey to him that it is my hope that Mr. Ford will not do or say anything that will make it difficult for me to deliver Muscle Shoals to him which I am triyng to do.'

"While the president didn't say so am sure Weeks has been in consultation with the president this morning in view of Ford's reported interviews today's papers."

Secretary of War Weeks, who was on the witness stand when Norris sprang the telegram on the committee, disclaimed any knowledge of the matter reported in it, or of President Coolidge's attitude concerning the Ford offer.

Norris said that he had established thru white house records that Miller, a former Washington newspaper correspondent, had called at the executive offices October 12, 1923, the date on which the telegram was sent.

Weeks declared that he did not believe the president had made any such statement.

"Certainly the president did not express any such views to me," he said.

The Ford interview referred to in the message was a scathing attack on Weeks for his sale of the Gorgas power plant to the Alabama Power company.

Weeks said that after the Gorgas plant had been sold, Ford had denounced him and later called on President Coolidge and then made "a social call" at his office.

Weeks said his reply to Ford's statement concerning the sale of the plant was not "gone over with Mr. Coolidge."

"I consulted the president about the sale of the plant," Weeks said, "but I do not want the responsibility placed on the president."

"After Ford called on the president on December 3," Norris said, "the president delivered his message to congress and recommended disposition of Muscle Shoals by the government. Then December 12, Ford came out for Coolidge for president."

After his conference with the president, Weeks said that he believed a statement would be issued by the white house about the Miller telegram later in the day.

GEORGE BURTON IS DEAD

PARIS, April 28.—The career of George Burton, nee Bernheimer, sometimes gay, sometimes tragic, always notorious, came to an end Saturday night when the New Yorker whose greatest fame resulted from his being left waiting at the church by Charlotte Demarest was found dead in bed from a blood clot at the base of the brain.

He had spent the night on Montmartre, scene of many of his most lavish entertainments.

George Burton, whose real name was Bernheimer, preferred Paris to New York, as a scene for his activities, which were largely devoted to entertaining with his share of his brewer father's $4,000,000 fortune. Previous to coming to Paris, Burton gained much notoriety in New York by his lavish parties.

His uncle Sam E. Rubenstein, died suddenly while playing bridge in a room [illegible] New York in 1911. His father Max died while testifying in a damage suit in the supreme court [illegible]

THE WEATHER.

For Nebraska: Cloudy and somewhat unsettled tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight.

His mother was Mrs. Frederick Housman.

On May 9, 1922, Bernheimer, now Burton, was to have married the charming debutante, Miss Charlotte Demarest. But that morning she and young Count Edward George Zichy of Hungary slipped away and were married in the municipal chapel.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., April 28.—John Roll, farmer of this vicinity, received injuries when his car skidded on a muddy road near this city and turned over. He was badly cut about one leg and received body bruises when he was pinned beneath the car. He was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

WIDENING OF THIRTEENTH

BLOCK FROM O TO P DROPPED FROM RECKONING.

Inadvisable From an Engineering Viewpoint to Include That Strip in a Project Long Under Discussion.

The block extending from O to P is being eliminated from the big street widening project long under discussion. An amendatory ordinance presented to the council Monday performs this bit of surgery following an exhaustive engineering study of conditions. The district as proposed for recreation contemplates widening of Thirteenth from J to O. It provides for a ten-foot cut-in on each side of the street from J to M or a sixty-foot street in place of the present forty-foot street. It provides for a five-foot cut-in on each side of the street from M to O or a seventy-foot street in place of the present sixty-foot street.

The improvement will constitute one of the big projects of the summer. The amendment, it is understood, is satisfactory to all property owners concerned. There are engineering difficulties between O and P streets, according to Commissioner Cowgill and City Engineer Erickson, which make inclusion of that strip impractical. There are no street car tracks along that strip. To widen the street from O to P would necessitate the lowering of some walks and floors and actually damage property, according to Mr. Erickson.

Resolutions were put thru ordering three separate improvements along Ninth street, T to the alley between U and V. One has to do with grading, one with repaving and one with the paving. The paving is in connection with a 10-foot widening on one side. Other improvements ordered in:

Re-surfacing district 8—Ninth street, K to N.

Re-surfacing district No. 7—Ninth, H to K.

Plans and cost estimate were approved and the clerk directed to advertise these projects:

Paving 585—Randolph, Twenty-first to Twenty-second, engineer's estimate, $2,700.

Paving 402—E street, Twenty-second to Twenty-seventh, engineer's estimate, $20,260.

Paving 567—E street, Twenty-seventh to Twenty-eighth, engineer's estimate, $4,750.

An ordinance was introduced creating a paving district to include Thirty-fourth, O to R and Q, Thirty-third to Thirty-fourth. Another ordinance creates a sewer district to include the territory between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth and E and F.

MR. COWGILL SMELLS MICE

SUSPECTS FRANTIC EFFORTS TO PUT RECALL ACROSS.

Has Hunch That Backers of Move Endeavoring to Procure the Necessary Signers Under Old Registration.

Commissioner Cowgill, much discussed principal of a proposed recall, suspects that frantic efforts are being made by backers of the movement to procure sufficient names and file the petitions with City Clerk Berg before May 1.

The street department head sees the point and imagines that his enemies see it also. The situation as regards time of filing in relation to signatures, is more or less confusing. The question is this; will an overlapping petition—one carrying signatures both under the old registration and the new, hold water?

On the first of May new registration begins and presumably on that date, all names on the old registration list automatically die It is the suspicion of the street department head that if petitions carrying names under the old registration are not filed until after commencement of the new registration period, they will be worthless.

The matter was under discussion in city hall circles Monday Mr. Berg said that if it comes to a showdown, he will rely entirely upon the legal department. Deputy City Attorney Wilke declined to give an offhand opinion. The general supposition of others interested in the subject, however, is that if petitions are filed with the clerk on or ebefor Wednesday, it will be proper to check them to ascertain legal sufficiency. The theory being that in such event, filing will be completed before the new registration begins. It also is the off-hand opinion of those who do not claim to be experts, that if petitions are filed after May 1 they must contain only qualified voters as determined by the new registration list.

"There's been some real action on the recall during the past two or three days," said Mr. Cowgill. "I'm a bit curious to know where the money comes from to conduct the circulation campaign. A man called my home Sunday while I was at church. He said that he understands I am running up taxes. Such a rumor is cheap political stuff. I have so much to spend. How can I spend any more?"

The charter provides that recall petitions shall contain signatures of quilified electors in number not less than 30 per cent of the highest vote at the last city election. In the only recall case with which Mr. Berg has had dealings, the court sustained him in holding taht it should be on the wet and dry issue since it received the high vote. There was no special issue at the last eelction. Mr. Dayton received high vote of 3,265. The total vote was 5,540. If the total vote is to be used as a basis, petitions must carry at least 1,662 qualified voters. If Mr. Dayton's vote is the governing factor, 980 will be sufficient.

NEBRASKA GOSSIP.

Alliance Herald: With lakes in the sand hills constantly growing larger and spreading over the heavy meadows, where a few years ago water was needed, there is a big danger that the stock industry will be permanently injured unless some definite plan of drainage is undertaken by the state or federal government. The danger of chains of lakes filling in through the hills is not imaginary; it is rapidly becoming a fact. Houses are almost surrounded by water and this has not been an exceptionally wet year. Where the water is coming from is a puzzle. Some think it has been caused by drilling potash wells in the lake bottoms and creating artesian wells. Some think it is caused by the heavy water pressure in the irrigation lakes to the north and west of the hills. Undoubtedly both of these are contributing causes. The water is backing up against the hills and nothing but a big drainage canal through the hills will allow it to pass.

Thedford Herald: As Mail Carrier Lewis James was making his homeward dash to Brownlee Tuesday the exhaust from his Ford truck started a fire out a few miles from town. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell were on their way to Thedford to attend the dedication of Thomas county's new court house and saw the fire and ran their horses to near it and whipped it out before it had time to spread. Tuesday would have been a bad day for a prairie fire as many of the ranchers and their families were here attending the dedication.

Stuart Advocate: Word has just been received here of the election of Rupert A. Chittick of Stuart to Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity. Nebraska chapter. It is a high honor to be elected to membership in this group. Chittick to receive this honor Martin, now a professor in pharmacy at the University of Minnesota was honored by election to Sigma Xi when he attended the University of Nebraska.

Gering Courier: During the early part of the year the Great Western Sugar company stated that they did not expect to increas their last years acreage to any great extent which was a trifle over 50,000 acres for their Nebraska territory, but according to reports issued by the various state papers this week the Nebraska acreage has already passed the 60,000 mark an da possibility of additional acreage to still be signed although the time for this work is rather short as in many instances the crop has already been seeded There is still a large acreage to be seeded, some finding it impossible to get their ground in readiness in time for the early sowing

Bayard Courier: Mrs T E Watkins of Bayard furnishes the Courier with a copy of a clipping from a California paper telling how her grandson, Jask Ashford, was almost fatally shot by bandits who were holding up and robbing his general store at Tudor, Cal., on the night of April 11. The story is too lengthy to print in full, but shows that Ashford discovered three men in his store who opened fire on him which he returned and thinks he got one of them. Ashford was shot thru the body just above the heart and the paper says he will live. The Ashford store and stock were entirely destroyed by fire, which broke out just after the shooting, and which he thought the bandits had already started before they were discovered. The money loss by fire was estimated at $80,000. Mr. Ashford believes that the body of the man whom he shot and whom he saw fall, was burned in the fire. The reason for firing the building is not known Ashford is also a deputy sheriff, but the paper says there is no reason to believe he had enemies or that there is any other known reason for the burning. Jack Ashford is the youngest son of the late Wm. Ashford, and was born in Banner county just south of the hills at the site of the old town of Ashford which took its name from his father.

Brewster News: A man of considerable means in a central Nebraska county had practically agreed to loan a substantial and practical farmer of that community $30,000 with which to purchase steers and some necessary feed. He changed his mind and invested his wealth in tax-exempt securities with the result that the farmer's pasture lands will go through the season unused and unprofitable and thirty thousand dollars worth of tangible property will not show on the tax rolls to support the state, county, school and road activities. This particular farmer has been lately giving some thought to tax exemptions and he is inquiring from his neighbors and friends where the support of the government is coming from if capitalists shirk their share of the burden.

ASTRONOMY—VI. The Stars.

THE stars are not "fixed" with respect to the sun but are moving through space with great rapidity, constantly changing their positions relative to each other. For example, the sun, a typical star, moves in the general direction of the star Vega in Lyra at the rate of thirteen miles per second. Many stellar velocities far exceed this figure. The reason stars do not appear to change their relative position in the sky even over long periods of time is that their great distance from us dwarfs their real movement so that only the most sensitive instruments can discover it. The nearest star is over four light-years away; the light-year is the number of miles light travels in a year at its rate of 186,000 miles per second and is 63,000 times our distance from the sun. Their great distance also masks their size, for many of them are hundreds of times greater than the sun in actual brightness and in bulk.

Many stars appearing as single to the eye are found with the telescope to consist of more than one unit. These are called double or multiple stars depending on the number. If two stars form a gravitationally united system and are not merely seen along the same line of sight while in reality astronomically distant, they are called binary stars. Sirius is a binary; Castor at least a quaternary—a system of four stars. Star clusters are multiple stars containing thousands of full sized stars.

Stars observed to change their brightness are variable stars; possibly all stars are, like the sun, slightly variable. Most variables go through cyclic changes some changing their brightness by more than one magnitude. In one type the cause of variation is the periodic eclipse of one member of a binary by the other In another it is undoubtedly due to internal causes such as give rise to the periodic eruption of sunspots. A very interesting type, not periodic, is that of the "new" stars, or novas. These flash out suddenly from insignificant stars, sometimes attaining first magnitude. It was once suggested that they were the results of star collisions, but a more probable explanation is similar to that given for the flashing out of meteors: Rushing through space, the star suddenly enters a cloud of small particles which checks its speed, heating it to a high temperature. The brilliancy attained never lasts long; novas sink to a much lower magnitude, though not necessarily as low as the original.

Almost all stars show a dark line or Law III spectrum, but they differ greatly in the elements shown. Blue-white stars show hydrogen or hydrogen and helium; in yellowish stars metallic elements are prominent. Reddish stars (eg. Betelgeux) show the presence of chemical compounds. The other stars, like the sun, are too hot for compounds to exist. The temperature of stars is intimately connected with color and spectrum. Blue-white stars range from 10,000 to 20,000 degrees centigrade, yellow stars from 5,000 to 9,000 degrees and the red stars down to about 3,000 degrees.

Nebulas.

Nebulas are clouds of gases or incandescent particles of various sizes There are three main kinds: (1) Irregular nebulas, which are formless—often long thin wisps; (2) planetary nebulas, which receive this name because they looked like planetary disks in the telescope to the early observers; (3) spirals, which look like snapshots of a July 4 "pinwheel" in action. The latter are by far the most numerous. They have a large central body and two spiral arms containing many lesser concentrations of matter.

The Evolution of the Stars.

It is a necessary consequence of physical laws that stars cannot remain forever in the same physical state or type in which we now find them, though such changes must take astronomically long periods of time. It was once thought that stars begin their lives at the highest temperature in the blue-white type, cooling and passing through the various types to final extinction But it seems certain that the normal course of development in the star stage begins with a very large diffuse gaseous stage of low temperature. Contraction takes place, due to gravitational attraction exerted upon the outer particles by the force emanating from the centre, and with it comes a rise in temperature. The rise may continue until the star enters the blue-white stage, but there is a physical limit beyond which this process cannot continue and after that is reached the star will shrink and cool off, passing slowly back again to the red stage. The sun is a yellow star on the downward course: Capella, same in color, is rising in temperature Furthermore, it is generally assumed that the nebular stage precedes the stellar stage in evolution and that the irregular nebula represents matter in its primal stage.

Organizer of Greatest Shoe Manufacturing Business in World Was Friend of Wilson.

ST LOUIS, Mo. April 28.—John C. Roberts, organizer of the greatest shoe manufacturing company in the world, close friend of Woodrow Wilson and owner of the St. Louis Star, is dead. Roberts died suddenly Sunday of a stomach hemorrhage. He was seventy years of age.

Born in Readyville, Tenn., he entered the clothing business in Murfreesboro, Tenn., later moving to Nashville to engage in the clothing business.

In 1880 he came to St Louis as a salesman for the Hamilton Brown Shoe company. Seventeen years later he organized the Roberts, Johnson and Reed company, and pushed his business aggressively.

Nine years ago, with Roberts, Johnson and Rand as a nucleus, he organized the International Shoe company, the largest in the world

FRENCH FEAR WIRELESS.

PARIS, (By mail.)—Suspecting engine wireless rays from Germany, the Paris service from France to Roumania has adopted a route by way of Strasbourg, Basle, Innsbruck, Prague and Vienna thus avoiding flying over Germany proper. Last year many French airplanes developed engine trouble over Germany and were forced to land, with the result that the planes were confiscated. Most of the pilots were released November. Experts of the air service, it is said, have discovered a system of wireless rays which could put airplane engines out of action

ALLOWED TO ISSUE BONDS

C. H. CORNELL PREPARES TO SELL CONTROL OF PLANT.

Chicago Company to Operate One of Pioneer Water Developments on the Niobrara River Near Valentine.

Permission was given by the state railway commission Monday for the Cornell Hydro-Electric company of Valentine to sell bonds in the sum of $160,000. Back in 1896 C. H. Cornell, banker of that section, began the development in the Niobrara near Valentine, and has invested a large amount of money in the enterpdise. He has never secured any interest or dividend on the money advanced and no compensation for his service

Mr. Cornell is well along in years, and told the commission that he was desirous of getting his affairs in shape so that his family might reap some benefit from his expenditures. He has arranged to sell the bonds, the proceeds of which go to repay him for past advancements of money, to a Chicago company at 75 cents on the dollar, and it will take operating charge of the plant.

The towns of Cody, Kilgore and Crookston get current from the plant and its total revenues now run about $23,000 a year. The commission figures that the balance sheet for last year is sufficient justification for the belief that more than enough to pay the 7 per cent interest on the bonds will be earned.

The hydro company is capitalized for $200,000, and the franchise value is fixed at the same figure. The commission made no valuation of the property other than to conclude from the available data that it is worth at least $163,000.

KISSING HOLDS UP TRAFFIC.

LONDON, (By mail.)—The goodbye kiss habit must be abandoned to prevent traffic congestion, the town council of Bournemouth decided. The municipal authorities had many complaints of slow tram and bus service. Traffic experts, after careful investigation, reported that there was too much farewell kissing in Bournemouth. Trams and busses were delayed and traffic tied up in knots while prospective passengers indulged in prolonged osculatory farewells.

MANY HONOR DEAD CHIEF

SCRUBWOMEN AND SILK HATS AT MURPHY FUNERAL.

Thousands Pay Last Respects to Man Who Won Political Power and Helped the Unfortunate.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Past the sidewalks of New York, where stood with bowed heads and tear dimmed eyes thousands he had befriended, the funeral cortege of Charles F. Murphy carried the remains of the dead Tammany leader to their last resting place today.

Up from the teeming east side, where the clatter and roar of traffic was stilled for an instant as the smoothly rolling black limousines went by, to the cool, broad sweeps of Fifth avenue, and the lofty height of St. Patrick's cathedral, the solemn procession moved. And in the procession and on the sidewalks of both sections, were men and women of all walks of life who owed much to "Charley" Murphy, and tearfully acknowledged that gratitude today.

Murphy had been a prince of politics in deed; power he wrested from the rich; jobs he gave to the poor. Probably no other individual ever provided personally so many jobs and thus won so many friends.

Undemonstrative and aloof in life, Murphy would permit effusiveness from no one; after his death the pent-up gratitude welled forth.

The voice of the city was hushed; so many men and women, officials and employes attended the funeral that there was virtual cessation of city business.

It was probably the most extraordinary demonstration ever accorded a private citizen.

In the procession rode the justices of the supreme court in a body, aldermen, members of the board of estimates, the heads and staffs of the district attorney's office. There was Governor "Al" Smith and his aides, representatives of the army and navy and politicians of national fame who played the bigger game with Murphy.

But in the silent line that passed the still figure in the coffin, and in the back benches at the cathedral, and on the sidewalks as Murphy passed for the last time, there were tired-faced scrub women and laborers and crippled elevator men, and others in shabby regalia, all with a last prayer of thanks for what "Charely" had done for them.

The scene around the brownstone house on the sun-strewn east side park where Murphy lived and died, was a remarkable one. Here, indeed, rich and poor, rubbed elbows in a tight-packed, orderly throng that stretched for blocks in all directions from the home.

Beside the silk hats and frock coats of the west side, worn even in solemnity with that jaunty air that only an Irishman can impart, there were the caps and flannel shirts of the east side. The brogue of old Ireland ran thru the throng, thickening where the white haired mourners of Tammany stood at the steps as the casket was carried down. This was the clan that Murphy ruled for twenty-two years.

The widow rose courageously from bed for the first time since she was told of her husband's death, and came down stairs to take her part in the last ceremony.

Heavily veiled she was escorted to a limousine.

A thunderous spluttering from the motor cycles of the police escort signalled the start of the procession. As it moved northward, all traffic was stopped and people came running to windows and stood bareheaded on either side of the muddy, cobble stoned streets where the man they honored today had played as a boy and driven a horse car before he rose to political power.

After services at St. Patrick's, the remains were to be buried in Calvary cemetery.

A Wall Street Sheik.

Half an hour after Rose-Mary and Dick Rolson had been cut short on their telephone call, a maid rapped at the door and called: "Mr. Rolson is downstairs, Miss Rose-Mary."

Rose-Mary threw off her dressing gown, slipped into a neat one-piece serge dress, dabbed a final touch of powder on her nose and hurried down to the library breathless, flushed and just able to gasp, "Why, Dick, what brought you up here at the busiest hour on Wall street?"

"You!" he exclaimed. "What on earth were you trying to tell me when our wire was suddenly cut off? What was that about not dining with mother when she is to spend but one evening in New York? Good Lord, I couldn't grasp the idea at all. I waited a few moments thinking you would call me back when the wire was cut. Then I tried to get you and the operator got the wrong number and my nerves were so on edge by that time that I just hopped into a taxi and came up to learn from your own lips what it was all about."

"It's about that dinner with your mother," said Rose-Mary, regaining her pose. Dick Rolson always had this effect on her. He was so full of energy and steam that at first he excited her, but by the time she had heard him thru she had calmed down and was ready to talk to him again. "You see, Dick, it's this way. Chester is going to give a recital that night and he insists—"

"That crazy violinist?"

"He's not crazy, Dick, you know he's one of the most wonderful violinists of the younger generation today. Well, he is to give his recital and he says he can't play unless—unless—"

"Oh, fire away," interrupted Dick Rolson, "unless you are there to inspire him. Poppy-cock! And a sensible girl like you would rather make eyes at a long-haired creature like that than to meet my little mother?"

Rose-Mary saw his practical turn to it. Again the vision of the dainty little cameo featured woman she had pictured sitting at the table with her son and the girl he loved appeared before her. Could she disappoint the energetic young Wall street hero?

Rolson read her mind. "All right," he said with the psychological business mind. "I'll leave it with you. But if you go with that violinist to 'inspire' him and refuse to meet my mother I'll just not bob up any more. You can have him. I'll call up tomorrow morning at 11 for your answer. Good-by, Rose-Mary, till then!"

Rose-Mary started to call him back, to tell him she didn't care if she never saw him again, but the Wall street sheik was gone. He knew when to make his exit.

TRIES TO BE A MEDIATOR

BELGIUM TRYING TO RECONCILE FRENCH AND BRITISH.

Discrepancy of Views Over Dawes Experts Report Discussed by Theunis, Hymans and Poincare.

PARIS, April 28.—Belgium attempted to mediate between France and Great Britain in their differences that have arisen over the Dawes experts' report.

Conferences between Premier Theunis and Minister Hymans of Belgium and Premier Poincare started at the Quai D'Orsay at 10 a. m. They were the first official pourparlors on the experts' findings.

While the Belgians were attempting to bring the French and British viewpoints together, Poincare was attempting to renew Franco-Belgian cooperation and realign this united front.

ADAMO ASKS A PAROLE

"Singing Mike," Serving Life Term, Still in Omaha Jail, Seeks Release.

OMAHA, April 28.—An air of sadness pervaded Douglas county court house and jail today.

"Singing Mike" Adamo, alias Mike La Porte, gay troubadour, greatest attraction ever housed in the jail, filed application for parole.

"Singing Mike," who has entertained his fellow prisoners with guitar solos and a fine tenor voice for more than two years, is a life termer, but he has never seen the penitentiary.

Mike is such a good influence on the other prisoners and is such a model prisoner himself that Sheriff Endres hated the thought of letting him go to the "big stir" at Lincoln.

Discharged prisoners who had served their time, haunted by the strains of "La Paloma" as sung by Mike, have been known to break into the jail again. And Nebraska sheriffs like to have popular jails because theq make more money on their feeding contracts if the cells are kept filled.

Anyway the penitentiary is filled to the overflowing and there is no room there, so Mike has stayed here since he was sentenced for life for the killing of his sweetheart, Alice Rhinehart, in December, 1922.

But now Mike has asked for a parole, and the hearts of the prisoners and jail attaches are sad.

His attorneys claim Miss Rhinehart's mother who lives at Hamburg, Ia., received letters from the dead girl which if introduced at the trial would have freed the troubadour.

One of the letters read, according to the attorneys: "If anything happens to me, be it death or anything else, do not blame Mike Adamo."

M'CRAY IS CROSS-EXAMINED

Indiana Governor Appears Worn and Haggard as He Takes Witness Stand.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 28.—Continuing his frank admission of forgery and misrepresentation of his financial condition, Gov. Warren McCray on cross-examination in federal court today, stoutly maintained he was innocent of any attempt to defraud and said he always believed he was right in what he did.

The governor defended his acts thruout a morning of ceaseless questioning by District Attorney Elliott in the trial of McCray on charges of fraudulent use of the mails.

Altho McCray plainly showed the effects of the tremendous strain, he left the stand at noon with the same confidence that has characterized him thruout.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 28.—In a courtroom jammed with curious spectators, Gov. Warren T. McCray went thru the ordeal of cross-examination in his trial on charges of fraudulent use of the mails.

Every seat in the courtroom was taken long before the hour for court to convene.

McCray looked worn and haggard as he took the witness stand.

District Attorney Elliott resumed cross-examination where he had left off Saturday afternoon.

BIG TAX RATE BATTLE IS ON

SENATE UNLEASHES FORCES TO FIGHT QUESTION.

Democratic Rates of 40 Per Cent Surtax Will Triumph, According to the Early Indications.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Democrats won a delay in the first clash over the tax rates today.

Senator Simmons, ranking minority tax expert, objected to consideration of teh major rate schedules and the battle over them was postponed before it was fairly under way.

Simmons pleaded that he was unprepared to discuss them. He said he believed the new democratic proposal for corporations rates should be considered first.

This proposal—a graduated scale assessment on earnings—has not been fully drawn up yet.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee declared he believed the rates should be disposed of immediately, but that he was willing to declare a temporary truce if Simmons insisted.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The big tax rate battle is on.

After weeks of maneuvering senate leaders today unleashed their forces to fight out the income and surtax rates which will be levied on the nation next year.

Chairman Reed Smoot of the finance committee forced the rate fight when he asked that the Mellon proposal for a 25 per cent surtax be brought up for discussion.

The Mellon proposal was put into the bill by the senate finance committee after democrats decided to postpone their opposition until the matter reached the floor. They did not wish to delay final disposition of the tax bill by putting up a determined fight in committee because they were confident there were greater chances of victory before the senate.

The democratic plan is for a 40 per cent surtax. Progressives want 50 per cent which is the present law. The house adopted a 37 1-2 per cent compromise. Secretary Mellon asks 25 per cent.

Indications as the fight got under way were that the democratic rates would triumph. Smoot is determined to force a vote on every possible compromise. When the 25 per cent surtax proposal is defeated—as it is certain to be—Smoot will ask a vote on 30 per cent, then 32 1-2 per cent and perhaps even 35 per cent.

BRUNER BIRD CLUB NOTES.

The scheduled field trip to the automobile club park Saturday morning was called off on account of the rain, but members of the Bruner bird club have been out during the week, and various backyards in the city have welcomed their returning summer residents or migrants.

Five ring-billed gulls flew low over one yard, and the orange-crowned warbler, white-throated and Harris sparrows were in the trees and shrubbery. A brown thrasher was seen carrying sticks into a woodbine on the house, and the mockingbirds at Calvert place are building their nest. The male sings almost continuously from the chimney top or from two of the tallest trees.

Nearly a hundred species of birds have been observed by members of the Bruner bird club—98 to be exact, dunring the past week, of which the following are new for this season: fifteen species: hermit thrush and olive backed thrush, black-polled, black and white, orange-crowned and yellow warblers, kingbird, broad winged hawk, semi-palmated and upland plovers, spotted and semi-palmated sandpipers, sora rail and black duck.—Record.

THE LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL.

Lincoln high school debaters will go to Omaha Tuesday to meet the Omaha Central high school team on the immigration question. Lincoln debaters will defend the affirmative, upholding further restriction. Otho DeVilbiss, Donald Underwood, and Everet Hunt constitute the tentative team chosen for this debate by T. S. Dunn, debate coach.

A meeting of the zoology club will be held Tuesday at the close of school. Plans will be discussed for field trips for natural specimens of insect and animal life.

The third annual spring fashion show presented by the clothing students of Lincoln high school will be given in a girls' assembly Thursday, May 1, in the high school auditorium. The manner of presentation, which has been changed each year, will take the form of a May festival. One hundred and fifty girls from the clothing classes will participate in the event, and all models exhibited will be made by the students.

NATIONAL SALESMAN CONTEST.

Chal-Max Motors Corp. local Maxwell-Chrysler dealers, has entered its organization in the national contest, which began April 21 and will continue until June 30. The leading Maxwell salesman during the contest will be presented with a Chrysler Brougham. The 42 dealers making the highest percentage of their quotas will get valuable prizes. The six sales managers whose organizations register the greatest number of salesmen with 100 per cent or better of their quotas will also receive worth while mementos.

This makes every Maxwell dealer, sales manager and salesman, as well as every other person employed by a Maxwell dealer in the United States, eligible to compete.

The factory is making up equitable quotas, and every organization stands an equal chance with every other one, and the winners can honestly be called the best salesmen, sales managers and best selling organizations Maxwell has.

ROTARIANS TO ROKEBY.

Lincoln Rotary club will hold its regular meeting tomorrow at the community club house at Rokeby. All cars will go by way of the Lincoln hotel, the last car leaving the hotel at 11:55 a. m. A special program has been prepared.

Your Problems

BY MARY GORDON

Dear Mary Gordon: I am to be married this spring and am to have a home wedding. I am unable to find in any of the etiquette books, the answer to the following:

My bridesmaid is to carry flowers, but I am not certain as to what she does with her own bouquet when she takes mine during the service. There will be no other attendant so she will not be able to give her's to any other bridesmaid, and yet is it proper for her to hold two bouquets.

My bouquet will be roses while hers is to be sweet peas and I do not think the two clash in any way. Also coming into the room, does the bride walk with the groom, taking his arm or does she walk separately?

There are to be only the two attendants, best man and bridesmaid. Please give the order in which they should enter.—Bride-to-be.

A. The bridesmaid may hold the two bouquets—since it will not be noticeable from the back. Roses and sweetpeas will be all right.

If you wish, you may walk with the groom, altho it is not usually done. In that case the bridesmaid comes first, followed by the bride and groom. The best man can accompany the minister.

Or the bridesmaid could come first, then the bride enters either with her father, or whoever is to give her away, or alone. As they reach the altar, the maid of honor steps to the left of the bride. Then the groom and best man come forward and the bride slips her hand from her father's arm and places it in the hand of the groom, who leads her to the clergyman. Her father stands at her right, and back.

Dear Mary Gordon: I would like to advise M. R. against using the aluminum plate for cleaning silverware as I have used one and found that it ate the plated ware and if used often, will ruin it. The directions called for vinegar to be used in the water with the plate and the chemical action produced was cleansing, I will admit, but it was more than cleansing and it was most disastrous after the first trial. However, silver may be cleaned of egg stains, etc., by immersing in boiling soft water in an aluminum kettle, to which salt has been added and bringing to a boil again. This merely cleans and does not polish. I find a paste made of whiting dissolved with diluted household ammonia a very economical and satisfactory silver cleaner and polish.—A Reader.

A. Thank you.

"Just Eighteen:" You can sell your fancywork thru the Woman's Club Exchange, 142 South Twelfth street, Lincoln. You pay them a fee of $1 a year for their service and they charge 20 per cent commission for selling your goods. Write them for further information.

Dear Mary Gordon: I am twenty years of age, and was acquianted to a nice young man two years my senior four years ago, and fell deeply in love with him, he lives seventy miles from where I live, so did not see him only every two or three months but he wrote to me steady, and two years ago he stopped writing and gave no reason why he quit.

Now a month ago he came back and wanted to be friends and said he heard some bad things about me the reason he stopped writing, and has been real nice since, and now we are engaged but he did not say anything about getting me a ring, shall I say anything to him about it or shall I wait and see if he will get me one.—Brown-eyed Dimples.

A. You might call his attention indirectly to his negligence. Perhaps he has just forgotten or maybe he can't afford one at present. If you think it is not the latter, tell him some day, casually, about the pretty diamond some girl of your acquaintance received from her fiance. I believe a hint will be sufficient.

Substitute for Ice.

Get an ordinary (unglazed) red brick, or more than one if a larger space is needed. Set the brick in pan of cold, very salt, water. On it place your butter and milk; cover with a cloth large enough to reach into the water, on all edges. Set the milk pan near an open window and the milk will stay sweet and the butter nearly as hard as when ice is used.

This is especially useful for people who live upstairs, before one really needs ice, except for butter and milk.

TOO ROUGH FOR CONVICTS.

VIENNA, (By mail.)—A wife whose language shocked the questionable sensibilities of prisoners in their cells has been divorced from Rudolph Arne, a warden. He convinced the court that she interfered with his duties to the state by visiting him at his work and talking in a manner that caused his charges of protest.

LATE NEWS OF YESTERDAY

DEDICATE A NEW CHURCH

NEW EAST LINCOLN CHRISTIAN EDIFICE CONSECRATED.

Dedicatory Services of Recently Completed $85,000 Structure Is Attended by Large Congregation Sunday.

The new East Lincoln Christian church at Twenty-seventh and Y streets, recently completed at a cost of over $85,000 was formally dedicated at 3 p. m. Sunday. Dr. Virgil Wilfred Wallace of Johnstown, Pa., who began a series of revival meetings at the church Sunday evening, delivered the sermon at the dedicatory ceremonies.

"The church of Jesus Christ is the one hope of civilization and of the world," Dr. Wallace said. "The church must christianize the wealth, education and pleasures of the youth of this country. The world possesses wealth today that the ancients never conceived of. We must christianize the pleasures and recreations of our youth. There are three things that the church must do, organize, energize and spiritualize. We must forget our petty differences and lay aside sectarian animosities and unite to combat the forces of evil.

"It is due time that the church organized. The church must realize its capacity for service of the higher levels of service. The church is opposing the organized evils of the world. There are forces of wealth that are organized to break down the churches of today. Everything that is good and beautiful is being driven out of the recreation of our youth. There's no other institution that stands higher than the public schools except the church.

"Today in the east a man who is an athiest is chosen in preference to men of devout Christian faith for positions in the public schools. It is claimed that they are not biased.

"Society has never had any movement toward uplifting ideals, but what it has come thru the church. The church may not be perfect. This is because every human being is not perfect. The church is subject to criticism but let us not mistake its mission."

Rev. J. W. Hilton, a former pastor of the church, and Rev. Jack Leonard, present pastor, took part in the dedication services. A magnificent new pipe organ, donated by Mrs. Alice Coleman, was dedicated in the forenoon to the motherhood.

The East Lincoln church of Christ was organized thirty-two years ago. About twelve years ago a permanent basement was built upon the present site where services were held until the construction of the main building began when a temporary tabernacle was erected. Rev. Jack Leonard has been pastor for over three years. The main auditorium of the church will seat over eight hundred and fifty people. The building committee cosisits of: J. W. Lanning, chairman; L. A. Van Sickle, secretary; Sherman Hanson, treasurer; Dr. W. T. Spenser; Paul G. Hanson. The afternoon program:

Invocation, Rev. Ray E. Hunt.
Anthem, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," Schnecker; violin obligato, Leland Wood choir.
Scripture reading and prayer, Dr. W. P. Aylesworth.
Violin solo, "Meditation from Thais," Massenet; Leland Wood.
Sermon, Dr. Wallace.
Quartet, "The Silent Sea," Needlinger; Mrs. Aydelott, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. Gordon Lintt, Mr. Walters.
Reading of dedication vows, Rev. J. W. Hilton and congregation.
Dedicatory prayer, Rev. J. W. Hilton.
Anthem, Gloria "Twelfth Mass," Mozart; choir.
Benediction, Rev. Austin J. Hollingsworth.

Amusements

Last Vesper Concert.

The last of the vesper concert series for the season was given Sunday afternoon before an audience that comfortably filled the high school auditorium. H. O. Ferguson in a preliminary talk extended thanks to the people for furnishing appreciative audiences, to musicians who had furnished programs, and to everybody else who had contributed to the success of the series. He said seventeen concerts in all had been presented, ten of the number during the school year just closing and seven during the previous year, and that it would depend upon the demand for such events whether they would be continued another season.

The program was given by the high school orchestra, augmented by a group of former members of the orchestra, and assisted by Rex Elton Fair, flute soloist, and Katherine Kimball, piano accompanist. The orchestra of about seventy-five pieces, directed by C. B. Righter, jr., played with even more than usual fine ensemble effects. Some new and interesting numbers were introduced. The four movements were played of Luigini's "Ballet Egyptian" a work of oriental character with unusual rhythms which were brought out in fascinating style by the orchestra. Mr. Fair contributed a flute solo to the piano accompaniment of Miss Kimball and was also heard in a double number to orchestral accompaniment. Both were worthy applauded.

The program notes for the following program were prepared by Howard Kirkpatrick:

March, Pomp and Circumstance, Elgar.
Menuet from First symphony, Kreutzer.
Serenade Russe, W. Popp.
Scene de Orphee, Gluck.
Rosegnolet, Johannes Pedern, Mr. Fair.
Ballet Egyptian, Luigini.
Piccolo solo, The Skylark, L. S. Fox, Menuet in G, Beethoven, Mr. Fair and orchestra.
Ave Maria, Bach-Gounod.
Triumphal march from "Sigurd Jorsalfar" Grieg.
Star Spangled Banner.

MERE MENTION.

The county commissioners are somewhat concerned over what to do with the families of some of the bootleggers arrested and jailed. In one instance a man who has gone to jail for a considerable period has a wife and eight children. In other instances the commissioners have been called on for aid. The situation puts up a real problem to the commissioners when appeals are made by families whose supporter has gone to jail.

A burglar entered the home of O. J. King, 1507 L street, early Sunday and stole a bill folder and a small amount of money. Entrance was gained thru a rear window of the house

An auto driven by M. E. Ludwig, 2727 Garfield, collided with a car driven by T. Roomer, Fourteenth and R, at Seventh and P streets at 4:25 p. m. Sunday. The cars were slightly damaged.

A Columbia touring car, owned by F. S. Davey, 919 South Fifteenth, was stolen from Twenty-seventh and Y streets Sunday afternoon while the owner was attending church. Police are on the lookout for the machine.

Police received a report Sunday afternoon from the Dodge county sheriff at Fremont that an auto had been stolen from F. L. Leonard of Blair, Neb. A reward of $50 is offered by the owner. The auto is a Chevrolet.

H. Kettlehut, twenty-four, 2907 Starr, and L. Kettlehut, twenty-two, of the same address, were arrested and jailed at 2:45 p. m. Sunday by Speed Officer Towle. They are charged with speeding and racing. L. Kettlehut was released by Chief of Police Johnston but his companion is being held.

A yellow cab, driven by Robert A. Parker, 114 South Thirteenth, collided with a truck driven by A. W. Schwartz, 1818 Euclid, at Twenty-second and Garfield streets at 3 p. m. Sunday. The truck was damaged slightly. The truck was going north on Twenty-second and the cab west on Garfield, according to police information.

Joe Ryan, twenty-one years old, a laborer, confessed to Lieut. Joe Rymer Sunday night that he entered a farmhouse near Malcolm in the afternoon and stole a watch and $2 in cash. Ryan went to the police station and gave himself up, when he heard that police were on his trail. He was discharged from the state reformatory five months ago after serving a year and five months.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO COMPETE

To Hold Debate Tourney and Academic Contests and History Teachers' Spring Meeting.

The seventeenth state debate tournament of high schools will be held in Lincoln and will begin on the evening of May 8 and close on the morning of May 10. The participants will be the schools that have won the twelve district championships. The question will be, "Resolved, That the United States should further restrict immigration." Drawings will decide whether teams will take the affirmative or negative.

The district champions to take part will be: Omaha Central, Albion, Superior, Nebraska school of agriculture at Curtis, Elmcreek and Perkins county high school at Grant.

KU KLUX HAS A MEETING

Large Crowd at the City Auditorium to Hear Lecturer.

The ku klux klan held a meeting at the city auditorium Sunday afternoon which was attended by a large crowd. Admittance to the auditorium was by tickets passed out by members of the organization. No public notice other than the issuing of tickets was made. Tickets were passed out at Havelock, and in the city.

Graft in Office Condemned.

WAHOO, Neb., April 27.—At the Saunders county republican convention held here, recently, resolutions were passed condemning graft in public office and demanding that the guilty be punished; urging economy in the administration of government; condemning the matching of appropriations with the federal government; commending the administration of President Coolidge and pledging support, and condemning the expenditure of money for investigations ond mere rumor or suspicion and the bringing into contempt of innocent persons.

Case Against Bentley Dismissed.

KEARNEY, Neb., April 27.—The case against C. L. Bentley of Miller, charged with disposing of mortgaged property, has been dismissed in court, a settlement having been effected and prosecution stayed. It was alleged that Bentley sold fifty head of steers against which the Bank of Miller held a mortgage of $1,400. Bentley was located in Omaha after a long search and brought back for trial.

Nebraska Pioneer Is Dead.

CAMBRIDGE, Neb., April 27.—Jonathan Higgins, former resident of Furnas county and Nebraska pioneer, died at the home of his daughter in North Platte. He was eighty-six years old. He settled near Cambridge in the eighties. He was one of the men who helped found the populist party in Nebraska.

GERMANS ARE IN WANT

Rev. R. Kuehne of the Volga Relief Society Tells of Conditions in Germany.

A large crowd at St. Paul M. E. church Sunday afternoon heard Rev. R. Kuehne, who has just returned from Europe, tell of conditions as he found them in Germany. Rev. Mr. Kuehne has been engaged in relief work for the Volga relief society in Germany. The meeting was held under the auspices of this society.

The speaker declared that most Americans who go to Germany put up at the first class hotels and have no conception of the conditions in the country as they apply to the people in general. The people of Germany are poorly clad and are hungry. He told of 6,000 in one place who were without shelter and had to be taken care of. Boys were running about with no shirts and without shoes.

The relief work being done by the people in the United States, he declared, is greatly appreciated. They have made the hearts of many glad in Germany. He told of children who were very happy when they were fitted out in clothing sent from this country.

Dr. Aitken of St. Paul church made a short talk preliminary to the address of Rev. Mr. Kuehne, who first spoke in English and then in German. Dr. Aitken said that he had been asked by Sherwood Eddy to go to Europe with a party this summer and he thought he would take the trip.

He expected to visit his mother in Scotland and would then go to France, Holland, Germany and other points. He told the audience he would visit Berlin. Rev. Mr. Kuehne said that if Dr. Aitken visited Germany he wanted him to go among the people and learn of their condition.

A choir sang two hymns before the address of the afternoon and the audience sang America.

Two hundred and one dollars were collected at the meetin. Mr. Kuehne will not go back to Germany as the society has completed its work. It sent two car loads of food from here and a car load of clothing. The society will hold a national convention in Portland, Ore., from June 11 to 15. A delegation will go from Lincoln and H. J. Amen will be among the number.

To Teach in Wisconsin.

TABLE ROCK, Neb., April 27.—Prof. Thomas D. Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Howe of this vicinity, has been employed to teach in summer school of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. He has been rehired as instructor in the botanical department of the Minnesota university for the coming year.

Comstock Girl Wins First Place.

COMSTOCK, Neb., April 29.—Martha Comstock won first honors in the dramatic contest at the Kearney teachers' college. A beautiful gold medal was presented to the winner. Ray Barnhart of North Loup was second. L. E. Harsh and Superintendent Nelson accompanied Miss Comstock to Kearney for the contest.

QUICK FINISH TO LOCKOUT.

RIO DE JANEIRO, (By mail.)—The prefect of this city has his own way of ending lockouts. Bakery owners of Rio de Janeiro met and decided to close shop, when a municipal ordinance shortened their hours, not considering in the least the million and a half inhabitants of this city who would probably be left breadless, until the municipal ordinance protested should be repealed. Mr. Prefect notified the bakers that their shops would be taken over by the government and making would continue. Baking was continued without the government taking over the shops.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders for Any Girl's Hair

Girls, try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy—a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Get a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.

GAVE POISON TO HIS WIFE

SUCH IS CHARGE MADE AGAINST A CHEMIST.

Also Inoculated Her With Pneumonia and Diphtheria Germs, White Plains Grand Jury Is Told.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 28.—Clarence O. Baring, accused by his wealthy wife of putting arsenic in her food—and believed by Westchester county officials to have used disease germs as a subtle poison, was held without bail today when arraigned on a charge of attempted murder, first degree. He was remanded to jail to await action of the grand jury, which was expected to return an indictment against him this afternoon.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 28.—Charges that Clarence E. Baring administered arsenic to his wealthy wife in an attempt to murder her were to be presented to a grand jury here today as authorities delved deeper into the strange tales of intrigue and jealousy that surrounded the life of the couple.

District Attorney Arthur Rowland of Westchester country also charges that he has evidence that pneumonia and diphtheria germs were given the wealthy woman.

Baring is held in the county jail without bail and will be arraigned today.

The authorities charge that for three months Baring—an amateur chemist—fed arisenic and germs to his wife in stuffed dates, malted milk, ginger ale and other foods. They say her frequent illness from the poison first caused suspicion to point towards the husband.

Mrs. Baring is described as jealous and has accused her husband of relations with another woman. The couple was on the verge of divorce a year ago but a reconciliation ended with a second honeymoon to Europe.

Friends say Baring is a neurotic with a passion for studying chemistry. He has a small laboratory in his home. They feel his bent for chemistry may have resulted in his experimenting on his wife.

DENVER NOT INVITING T. B.'S

People Who Have Not Enough Money for Long Stay Without Work Told Home Better.

DENVER, April 28.—Tuberculosis patients who cast longing eyes toward Denver, center of the Rocky mountain resort for sufferers from the white plague, are advised by medical authorities here to stay at home for treatment unless they have enough funds to keep them for from one to three years without having to work. Their chances of being cured without funds are better at home than here.

"The part played by climate in the cure of tuberculosis is greatly over-exaggerated in the public mind," says Dr. Johanna J. Gelien of the Denver municipal tuberculosis dispensary and of the tuberculosis wards of the general hospital.

"Rest, fresh air, good food, peace of mind and means of future occupation are the great essentials. Some physicians say climate plays about a 10 per cent part in the cure of the disease. Everything else can be got at home. And climate without these other things is worthless."

Pimples
BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth. . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and

FRENCH PILOT LEADS RACE

BELIEVED TO HAVE OVERTAKEN BRITISH FLYERS.

Major MacLaren in Search of New Engine But May Be Forced to Await Dispatch of One by Steamer.

PARIS, April 28.—Lieut. Pelletier D'Oisey, French airman who set out from Paris Thursday in a dash for distance flight honors, is believed to have overtaken Major MacLaren, British flyer, who left England last month.

D'Oisay, attempting a flight to Japan which may be extended into an around the world effort, was last reported to have taken off from Basra, a frontier city of Asiatic Turkey near the Persian gulf, for Karachi.

Major McLaren flew from Karachi Saturday, but was forced down in the Sind desert and is returning to Karachi by train to obtain new engine parts.

KARACHI, India, April 28. — Forced down onto the sandy wastes of the Sind desert near Balti, Major MacLaren today left his British round the world flight plane under armed guard and returned to Karachi in search of a new engine.

The British globe girdling probably will be delayed at least a fortnight, by the accident to MacLaren's machine which interrupted his eastward flight from Karachi Saturday.

It is reported the British airmen will find it impossible to obtain the necessary engine or parts in India and that an engine will have to be brought from Iraq by steamer.

Major MacLaren's cumulative flying time from England to Partu, the desert town at which he descended Saturday, is 73 hours, 13 minutes.

DISOWNS JUG OF HOOCH

Swan Appeals Case When Fined $100 for Possession nad Says Hooch Was Friend's.

Charley Swan, forty-nine, 932 P, pleaded not guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor when arraigned in police court Monday morning, following his arrest Saturday night by Officer Snively. The officer followed the taxicab in which Swan was riding with the intention arresting the driver for speeding. Swan was fined $100 and costs and served notice of appeal, his bond being set at $500.

Officer Shively had followed the taxi to Tenth and P in an effort to ascertain its speed. There the cab stopped and Swan and a companion, Jack Embody, got out and started down the street, when the driver reminded them that they had left a package. Swan told him to drive down the street and return a little later. It was then Officer Shively went into action and captured the gallon jug of hooch, and Swan and Embody fled.

Swan explained in court that the hooch belonged to Jack Embody and that he knew nothing about it. Police are searching for Swan's bad companion." Both men are old offenders. Embody having recently been released from the city jail where he laid out a gambling fine.

CAN ARMENIAN BE CITIZEN?

T. O. Cartozian, Portland rug dealer, who was granted citizenship after living in America eighteen years, has been made the target of a suit brought by United States District Attorney John S. Coke to have the citizenship revoked. Coke bases his contentions on the recent supreme court decision(which declared Hindus ineligible for ciitzenship.

SIMPLE RULES FOR PLAYING MAH JONG

By Madira Gauntier

CHAPTER V.

Counting score: The winner adds his score, counting his flowers, seasons' "pungs", 'kongs", pairs of east wind, his own wind or dragons) held in his hand, etc. To this score he adds 20 for mah jong. Should he have his own flower or season he doubles his entire score. Having both his own flower and season doubles his score twice. He then doubles for any other doubles that are due him, such as, three or four of any dragons, three or four east winds, player's own wind, etc. Before doing any doubling it is imperative to add the total number of points and the 20 points for "mah jong".

Penalties: Any player who, by mistake, holds under thirteen tiles in his hand cannot win the game, but his score will count at the end of the game.

Any player who, by mistake, holds over thirteen tiles in his hand after discarding, cannot go "mah jong", nor can he count his score at the end of the game. This does not apply to "kongs", which are counted as three tiles, or to flowers and seasons.

Should a player have exposed on the table nine or more tiles of the same suit, no other player may discard a tile of that suit unless he has no other tile to discard. If he disobeys this rule and discards a tile which permits the first named player to go "mah jong" he must pay to the winner the scores for all three losing players.

Should a player have exposed on the table two sets of three or four dragons, no other player may discard one of the remaining dragons. A complete set of dragons is a limit hand, and if a player discards a dragon of the third set and permits the first named player to go "mah jong" he pays the winner 500 points for each of the three losing players. East wind's double is not considered in this case.

Should a player have exposed on the table three sets of three or four winds no other player may discard one of the remaining sets of winds which will permit the first named player to go "mah jong". The penalty for this is the same as in the above case.

A player who goes mah jong by mistake, having an error in his combinations, pays each of the three remaining players the limit score. (This is sometimes disregarded in America.)

Changing of winds: After each game, or each time a person goes "mah jong", east wind passes to the person at east wind's right. Thus, the player who was south wind in the previous game becomes east wind, the player who was west wind becomes south wind. The player who was north wind becomes west wind, and the player who was east wind becomes north wind. If east wind goes "mah jong", however, he retains the title of east wind until he loses a game.

A set of games: After each player has been east wind once, or there has been a round of east wind, south wind then becomes the favorite wind, and a round is played with south wind as chief. Thus, the person who is south wind pays and loses double, and any player getting three or four south winds doubles his score once. Any player having a pair of south winds in his hand at the end of the game scores 2 points.

After a round of south winds, west wind becomes the favorite wind until each person has been west wind. In this case, west wind pays and loses double, and any player getting 3 or 4 west winds doubles his score once, etc.

After a round of west wind, north wind becomes the favorite wind, ruling thruout the game. This completes the set of games.

(The End)

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

The people of Nebraska City were stirred up over the retirement of Superintendent W. A. Jones of the institution for the blind and the appointment of ex-Lieutenant Governor Harris. They said Mr Harris was promised anything he wanted in consideration of his graceful retirement from the race for renomination for lieutenant governor.

The directors of the Lincoln auditorium association held a meeting yesterday and decided unanimously to change the plan of the building, name it the Stotsenburg memorial armory and dedicate it to Nebraska soldiers who had lost their lives.

R. O. Heikes of Dayton, O., champion target shot of the world, and Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., champion live bird shot of America, arrived in Lincoln to attend the state shoot.

Lee Tong, Ah John, Sam Sing and At Lee filed a chattel mortgage upon their California restaurant.

Mrs. Seneca G. Dorr gave a musicale at her home, 3038 A street, in honor of her mother, Mrs. Joseph R. Lewis of California.

The excise board met and made eleven appointments of members of the police department: Captains Samuel McClay and W. T. B. Ireland, Sergeant A. A. Snell, Detective James Malone, Health Officer William Rohde, Mrs. Rachel L. Hyde, police matron and Patrolmen Dominic McGuire, Frank Grady, Thomas Carnahan, Tony Harr and C. M. Green.

Wife Leaves Mysteriously.

FORDYCE, Neb., April 28. — Casper Melrose, farmer living near here, is searching for his wife who mysteriously disappeared from her home last week. Mrs. Melrose disappeared at a dance here, and upon the return of her husband, he found that she had been home and gathered up her clothes before leaving.

PEGGY FINDS A TREE THAT WEARS MITTENS.

WHEN Peggy spied the queer little tree, just covered with tiny green mittens, one day while she was visiting her aunt in Florida, she clapped her hands in glee.

"I'll bet anything"—Peggy began, when a soft burst of laughter interrupted her.

"Just a second—be careful about betting," laughed a merry voice, and Happy Giggles, her little elfin friend from Make-believe Land hopped up beside the funny tree. "Don't those leaves look like mittens?"

"I should say they do, Happy Giggles," laughed Peggy. "But what kind of a tree is it? Look," and Peggy pulled down a larger leaf, which was just about the shape of a slender mitten only that it had a thumb on both sides. "Isn't that too funny for words? What kind of a tree is this, anyway?"

"It should be called a mitten tree," laughed the elfin, "but it's not. That's a sassafras tree. You have them in the New England States, but, of course, this one in Florida looks prettier. Don't you love those green mittens among the yellow flowers?"

"I don't believe I've ever seen anything quite so pretty before," said Peggy. "And is it from this tree that they make sassafras tea?"

"From the roots," replied Happy Giggles. "Taste one of those buds. You'll find it tastes like sassafras."

Peggy nipped off a bud and chewed it, nodding her head.

"Yes, some of the Southern folks dry the leaves and use them in soups. It gives the soup a distinct flavor which one likes very much, after getting used to it," the elfin continued. "I guess the sassafras and mulberry trees are the only ones that can boast of more than one kind of leaf at a time. See how many different shapes we have in leaves on this tree. Here's one kind," and Happy Giggles pulled down an oval-shaped leaf. "Then here's a pretty good mitten." And he pulled down a larger blade, oval in form but with one side extended out to form a thumb. "Then there's also a three-lobed leaf. That's not so bad for one tree, is it?"

"That's a Sassafras Tree."

"But isn't sassafras good for anything else besides making tea and flavoring soup?" asked Peggy.

"Of course. It's good for fence posts, and they use it for making boats," replied Happy Giggles. "Then, too, they make oil from the roots which they use to perfume soaps with and to flavor medicine.

"One thing in the sassafras tree's favor is that it doesn't look dead in Winter time as so many of our trees do. You see, its bark is reddish-brown and in Winter, each slim, pale, yellowish-green twig ends in pointed bright green buds. The tree doesn't look as dead and forlorn as some trees do in Winter."

"Some lovely tree," sighed Peggy. Just then her mama called her for lunch, and after thanking Happy Giggles for his visit, Peggy hurried into the house.

When Peggy told her daddy what the elfin had said about the sassafras tree, he got a big book down from the library shelf. Sure enough, every word Happy Giggles had said was true.

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Revelations of a Wife

Why Madge "Pulled Up" Her Imagination.

DICKY'S announcement that he meant to accompany me on my automobile drive home to the farm, had a curious effect upon me.

Under ordinary circumstances, the prospect of such a jaunt alone with him would have sent my mental thermometer perceptibly upward But this morning "his spirit, sir, was one of mockery," while my own emotional organism was so far from being normal that I knew it would take very little to throw it entirely out of balance. The possibilities of friction, of jangling disagreement, upon such a trip were many, and I flinched from the thought of any more unpleasantness as if, I told myself with savage self contempt, I were a child dreading a school-master's ferrule.

But Dicky must gain no hint of my thoughts. He had proposed the trip, from what motives I did not know. He might cherish an odd idea of atoning for his rudeness, or the idea of driving down through the country just throwing off the handcuffs of the Winter season might appeal to him. But he had clothed the proposal in smiling good nature, and common courtesy—as well as conjugal duty—must dictate my reply.

"I'd love to have you," I said gaily. "But for sheer pleasure of your company, please understand that; not to 'keep the cops away,' as you stipulate. You're much more apt to attract them."

A Merry Moment.

"Lillian! I appeal to you!" Dicky intoned solemnly.

"Not an atom of use, Dicky-bird," she retorted, putting dishes on a tray preparatory to setting the table in the living-room. "Who's going to drive?"

"Madge is," my husband affirmed quickly. "I wouldn't touch that bus of hers for any money. A hen with one chicken isn't in it with my spouse where that car is concerned."

Lillian paused speculatively, a tray of dishes held high above the table.

"And you taught her to drive," she mused. "I can see where a perfectly good time is going to be had by all, including the traffic cop who arrests Madge after the coroner has performed his usual function over you."

"Of all the crepe hangers!" Dicky declared wrathfully. "If only funeral mutes were in style, you'd be of untold value to an undertaker. No, I take that back! There's nothing mute about you. But what a Cassandra you'd make!"

"Her predictions came true however, though they were discredited," Lillian retorted.

"Don't Be Captious."

Dicky threw himself into a languishing pose, and smirked at her.

"I suppose you mean to compare me to Apollo," he drawled. "Well, of course——"

"You'll be comparable to a lump of putty, very much flattened, in about two seconds, if you don't get out of my way." She advanced toward him threateningly.

He dodged, and then with a deft movement, took the tray of dishes from her.

"Don't be captious, old dear," he admonished her. "It doesn't fit the wide, free, open spaces of your generous nature. Let me carry this. Where do you want it?"

"In the front room. Put it on the table until I come."

"You walk along with me, or I'll have to stand there holding it. I wouldn't dare to put it down with either of you women in the mood you are this morning."

Underneath the nonsense I caught his desire to speak to Lillian by herself, and all at once the meaning of his early morning return flashed upon me.

Lillian's announcement that she meant to use the apartment while we were gone had puzzled him, and he wished to find out what she meant by it. Perhaps—I knew what sincere respect he gives Lillian's powers of observation and deduction—Dicky wanted to find out whether she had any knowledge of—

I pulled up my imagination with a firm hand. He had been boyishly enthusiastic about driving out home with me. I would not yield to the mean little suspicion that he was only using the trip as an excuse to come to the apartment and question Lillian.

But while I was able to pretend high spirits through breakfast and our preparations for departure, the thought of his long drawn-out, low-toned conversation with Lillian—it was fully five minutes before they returned to the kitchen—somberly shadowed the beginning of my trip with him.

THE HOME KITCHEN

Three Fine Recipes for Delicious Cakes and Dainty Cookies

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

HOME-MADE cakes and cookies are always a treat. Though we, acknowledge that it is convenient to buy our cakes, we must also be honest in saying that they sometimes lack the delicious taste that home-made things seem to acquire under skilled fingers. The essentials for cakes are good butter—if it is salt, wash it through cold water once before using—the freshest of eggs procurable, a good, steady oven and a strong right arm for beating dough that calls for this sort of treatment.

Tutti Fruti Cake.

Make three layers from any favorite recipe or from this one: Cream together, two cupfuls of sugar and a scant cupful of butter and add the yolks of four eggs beaten together with three-quarters of a cupful of rich milk added. Sift in slowly, two cupfuls of flour with a saltspoonful of salt and two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat the mixture well, then add enough flour, slowly, to make the dough rather firm. Fold into the dough the very-stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and a teaspoonful of vanilla. A small grating of nutmeg may be added if liked. Divide the dough into three buttered layer pans. If there is more than is needed for the size of the pans, make a few little cakes in muffin pans, adding a few currants or chopped raisins if desired. For the filling, make a syrup of a cupful of sugar and a half cupful of water boiled for four or five minutes then pour onto the stiffly-beaten white of an egg, and beat in a small cupful of chopped raisins and candied cherries and a tablespoonful of chopped walnuts. Spread the layers with the mixture and after putting it over the top, dust it lightly with a little powdered sugar to stiffen it, or use the filling all inside, then frost the top and sides of the cake.

One Egg Cake.

Melt a half cupful of butter or vegetable fat and mix it with three-quarters of a cupful of molasses or maple syrup, adding a heaping tablespoonful of brown sugar, a saltspoonful of salt, a beaten egg, two small cupfuls of the finest oatmeal, a heaping tablespoonful of baking powder, a cupful of flour, a teaspoonful each of ginger and mixed spices and a teaspoonful of vanilla flavoring. Pour the dough into a greased pan and bake it thirty-five minutes. If it should seem too stiff when mixed, a little bit of rich milk may be added, but do not do so until it is necessary.

Cocoanut Cookies.

Cream together one cupful of butter and two cupfuls of sugar. Add two eggs beaten with a cupful of freshly-grated cocoanut. Sift in two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and enough flour to make a soft dough. Knead this lightly, roll it thin, cut it in the desired shapes and bake it on a lightly greased tin, a very delicate brown. The cookies are sometimes sandwiched with a soft frosting if they are to be used for afternoon tea service.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT Gold and Other Glories

T. J. HART, of Rutland, Vermont, was a milk peddler a few minutes ago.

Now he's a millionaire.

His sister, 'way out in California, died and left him five thousand acres of land and plenty of cash "to buy or sell, build or burn," as they say in the West where the tall trees grow.

What do you suppose the new millionaire will do with his million?

Will he go out to California and build a great big house with porches and a cupola and green blinds and an iron dog on one side of the path and a girl and boy under an umbrella on the other side—just because the biggest house in Rutland, Vermont, looks like that and he's always wished he could own something like it?

Or will he fall in love with the bungalows and build something in rose-colored stucco with two yew trees at the steps and a sun-porch and a sleeping-porch and a pergola and a parrot on a standard and two love birds in a gilded cage and white dotted muslin curtains at the window, allee samee newly-wed type?

Or will he find a couple of old Spaniards and draw them a plan and get them to build him a nice clay-colored adobe with a patio in the middle and a fountain and a pool full of gold fish?

And will there be a gallery around the patio and an acacia tree in the middle and a camellia tree in the corner, and will Mrs. Millionairess learn to wear a yellow satin skirt with black lace ruffles on it and a mantilla and a high comb so as to look in character?

If You Had a Million——

And will they raise figs and olives and almonds and have a house-boat on the river and a strawberry patch two acres big and a herd of yellow Jerseys so as to have plenty of thick cream for the strawberries? And will there be peaches in the orchard, too, and apricots, and will they dry their own prunes and their own raisins and have three cars in a garage—a roadster and a limousine and a touring car—and will there be saddle-horses in the stable and some dogs in the right place, and will they invite all their Down East relatives to come to California and grow up with the country?

Or will they worry about what's the best thing to do with all that money?

Will Mr. Millionaire and Mrs. Millionaire fall out over their plans and will they find that some of their friends are not at all pleased to see them so prosperous?

Will they go up to Boston and buy something already built in Back Bay and will they work very hard trying to eat the right things and wear the right clothes and know the right people?

Will they take a Cook's tour to Europe and learn what people mean when they talk about atmosphere and "nuances"?

Wouldn't it be interesting to know?

What would you do if somebody should leave you a million—right now?

Don't wait to think—how would you spend it?

Whom would you choose to advise you about it?

Whom would you trust to take care of the money for you? Would you lie awake nights fretting for fear you'd made the wrong investment?

Would you send for your dead brother's little daughter and make her the heart of your house and the object of your life?

Would you write to your old friend who's having such a hard time and send her a check for five hundred dollars and tell her to do exactly what she pleases with it?

What would you do, anyway?

Would You Be Happier?

What kind of house do you want, or don't you want a house at all?

Maybe it's a car you're after—is that it?

And wouldn't it be a shock to find after you'd had your million a year or so that you weren't such an awful lot happier than you are this very minute?

Chink-chink! What a pretty noise it does make—the gold—doesn't it?

How hard we all work to get a little of it.

And yet——

How You May Enhance Your Facial Loveliness

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

SOME beauty specialists say that every woman over twenty-five should begin using skin food on her face, others say that every woman over twenty needs skin food to aid her beauty.

Now, from personal observation, I should say that this need for beauty stimulation must be regulated according to personal needs.

Some women have skins that are naturally very much drier than others. Such skins show a tendency to fine wrinkles that line their otherwise smooth surface and mar their beauty accordingly. The dry atmosphere of steam-heated apartments and houses is also very detrimental to the beauty of their skins. Such women need a moistening skin-food to impart beauty and smoothness to their complexions.

Others who happen to have skins of the slightly more oily variety are not so easily affected by the drying influences of steam heat and rough winds. They may find that they do not need the help of skin food, at least until after twenty-five.

But most women who earnestly seek beauty, and who strive to preserve the beauty that has been given to them, will find that they do need skin food to lend its soothing influence to their complexions.

For the facial treatment I am going to describe to you here, the equipment you need consists of:

Cleansing cream
Skin food
A chamois-covered face-patter

At night when you are getting ready to go to bed begin by creaming your face thoroughly with the cold cream. Rub it well into all your pores, taking care that it goes into the ones about the sides of your nose and around the corners of your mouth.

Now take an old linen towel and wipe most of this cream off, leaving just a suggestion of it over the surface of your skin.

Next, take your face-patter and pat your face with it—not too gently, to stir up the circulation, but not too briskly. The movements you make with this patter should be always upward and outward. Pat up from the corners of your mouth and up from the corners of your nose.

Keep this up until your face fairly tingles and glows from the rush of blood brought to the surface of your skin by the patting.

Now take your towel and wipe all the remaining cleansing cream from your face.

Next, it's time to apply the skin-food, and this should be put on as lightly as possible. The place where you may apply it a trifle more thickly is at the corners of your eyes, where fine wrinkles like to gather. Rub it into these places with your finger-tips, using a circular motion. Leave this on all night, and wash your face in the morning with cold water. Repeat this treatment night after night, and you will note your beauty improving.

Advice to Girls By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I am considered very pretty and am very popular, among both young men and girls. I like to have a good time and lots of fun. I like indoor sports and Summer sports of all kinds; am considered a very good dancer and play the piano and a banjo-uke.

I am invited to many parties and dances. At one of these parties I met a young man whom I liked very much. This man seemed to take a liking to me, too and we went together for quite a while. He told me he loved me and wanted me to marry him.

Now, I like him as a friend, but marriage has never entered my mind. He seems to think that I should give up all the parties and dances I go to and give up all my young men friends. I refused to do it and we quarreled. He called me later and asked me to forgive him. I did and things went all right for a while.

Lately he has told me that I must marry him, but I don't know why I must. Every time we go out we quarrel. I don't like to quarrel, and I know it takes two to make, but I just can't keep quiet when he tells me I must do this or I must do that. I told him I was too young to get married, and that I didn't love him enough, anyway. He said I would grow to love him.

Please tell me what to do about him. I am surely puzzled. Mother says I should not permit him to do it, and "Dad" says the same.

SUNNY BUDDY.

SUNNY BUDDY: My dear, your letter indicates that you are a girl with good, sound common sense; therefore, don't you think your parents' advice is just exactly the right thing? I do. If he still persists in annoying you ask "Dad" to speak to him and then I am sure you will be relieved of his attentions.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl twenty years old and deeply in love with a man about fifteen years my senior. I live out-of-town and he lives here. I have been visiting friends here about two weeks. During this time he has been to see me almost every night in the week, but won't see me on Sunday night.

He says he loves me dearly and some day intends to make me his wife. I suppose I am just a little too suspicious and exacting, but every Sunday night he keeps me "sittin' in a corner." I love him dearly—even better than my own life and it grieves me very much to have him be with some other girl on Sunday night.

We have been sweethearts over two years. Do you think I have the right to expect him to be with me on Sunday night? If so, please tell me how I can get him to come to see me on that night. I am worried to death dear Annie Laurie. If he continues to have dates with other girls I don't want to live. I have given up all other men for him and am preparing to marry him. He says he has no other girl, but things look suspicious to me. Any advice you can give me will be highly appreciated. HEART BROKEN.

HEART BROKEN: If you are engaged, the young man has no right to call on other girls. Why not have a frank talk with him and tell him how you feel in the matter? If he loves you as he claims, he should be only too glad to grant your request.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her in care of this office.

YOUR HEALTH

Are You Really Eighty When You're Only Forty?

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,

United States Senator from New York,

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. COPELAND

"IF you are proud of your ailments and like to discuss them, you are eighty even though you are forty."

I read this philosophical statement the other day in a newspaper. I believe it contains a germ of truth. To have ailments so pronounced as to demand constant recital is an evidence of old age.

When a wagon begins to wear out the wheels creak, the body squeaks, the bolts rattle. All these noises are the natural complaints of an aged vehicle. They are like the complaints of an aged person.

I do not want anyone to think I am unsympathetic. Candor compels me to say, however, that there is a lot of unnecessary complaining in this life. If we are honest with ourselves, each of us must admit that he has done a little too much of the complaining himself.

We must make a distinction between ailments that are real and ailments that are imaginary. We can overlook complaints which come from actual suffering, but it is too bad that most of the complaining done in this life is done by persons who have imaginary ills.

Nobody wants to be thought old. What infinite pains we take to hide the ravages of age! Hair-dyes, facial massage, cosmetics, "plumpers" and other devices are resorted to to camouflage the effects of time and to give the impression of youth and vitality.

Let me confide a secret:

The surest guarantees of youth are overflowing good nature, a smiling face, alertness of manner, elasticity of step and, more than anything else, the insistent statement that you are feeling fit and fine. The writer of the philosophical statement I quoted to begin with is telling the truth. Here it is again:

"If you are proud of your ailments and like to discuss them, you are eighty even though you are forty."

You are sure to have ailments, you are sure to have aches and pains, if you neglect the things which make for good health. All the things I have enumerated as the secrets of youth are the evidences of vigorous health.

In order, then, that you may avoid the temptation to growl about your disabilities, it is well to avoid having them. Certainly, if you have no feeling of discomfort you are not going to talk about sickness and the symptoms of ill-health.

To have perpetual youth you must have perennial health. This you may possess by right thinking and right living.

It is easy to preach, but more difficult to practice. It is easy to look out of the window and say: "What a nice day this is." It requires energy and character to get outdoors and enjoy the day. It is easy to look out of the windows of a luxurious limousine to gaze upon the bursting buds of Springtime, but how much better it is to put your feet upon the ground and by the exercise of your muscles and the stimulation of your heart, give yourself the sense of buoyancy which accompanies the normal action of your body.

Every day should be a day when you feel well. You should not be dependent upon the sunshine or the sky. It should not be necessary to trust to thermometer or barometer for determination of your feelings. Plenty of sleep, simple food, agreeable companionship, sane recreation and spending much of your time in God's out-of-doors will build up such vigor of body that there will be no occasion to complain.

A friend of mine speaks of every birthday as her thirty-first birthday. There is no need for anybody to get beyond forty. Don't be eighty. Go ahead with your enterprises and your ambitious plans regardless of what may be your birth record in the family Bible.

Answers to Health Questions

M. Z. Q.—Is it harmful for an electrician who has heart trouble to work around a high voltage current of electricity? Is working around electricity harmful to one's health in any way?

A.—Electricity is a mysterious fluid and it is difficult to measure what, if any, effect is produced by working about it. I assume that you are an expert, knowing how to guard against common accidents, and it is quite probable no harm will result.

* * *

E. J. K. Q.—I am a young man 20 years of age, height five feet four inches. What should my correct weight be?

2.—How can one detect the presence of consumption?

A.—For your age and height you should weigh about 127 pounds.

2.—You can detect the presence of this disease by having an x-ray taken of your chest and the sputum examined. In such cases the patient suffers from a cough, appears listless and registers a temperature, especially in the afternoon.

* * *

MRS. E. C. C. Q.—Recently I have formed a habit of biting my finger-nails. Will you kindly tell me how to overcome this?

2.—About how many hours a day should a 16-months-old baby sleep?

A.—You should use your will power and try to control this habit. Paint your fingers with tincture of asafoetida. This will tend to help you overcome this habit.

2.—Your baby should have about 12 hours sleep at night and a nap in the afternoon of from 2 to 3 hours.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. R. S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, APRIL 29.

An anxious and troublesome day is presaged from the many hostile lunar aspects. This disagreeable and disappointing reign is likely to make itself felt both in business and in all other lines of human endeavor. There is a prospect of loss and obstruction in business and anxiety may afflict the household. The opening for change or travel should not be embraced, since it comes under a malefic Uranian vibration. Quiet application and determination to "hold the fort" may turn the day to good account.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to have an anxious and troublesome year. They should protect themselves against money losses, avoid change or journeys and safeguard the domestic circle against grief and trial. A child born on this day should be trained in thrift and equipped to overcome difficulties.

Today's Fashion

By VERA WINSTON

Here's a Plaid Top-coat That's Ideal for Traveling.

THE vogue for plaid is exploited here in a top-coat built on loose and becoming lines.

The material shows a dark blue background and the plaid lends effective tones of yellow and henna and red and green. The lining is of henna crepe de Chine.

Note the bias band of plaid which extends from the sides of the coat across the back. The side-slits give ample width and the coat is ideal for walking or motoring, or for a steamer or traveling coat.

CAR ROBBERS ADMIT GUILT

BOUND OVER AND WAIVE PRELIMINARY HEARING.

Possible That Action May Follow in Federal Court Since One Car Looted of Flour Was Billed to Iowa.

Martin L. Shaw, John Boell and William Schleiger, confessed box car robbers, admitted guilt before Justice Stevens Monday, waived preliminary and were bound over to the district court in thes um of $1,5000 each for grand larceny. Shaw alone furnished bail, J. H. Irwin and Edward Van Dorn being his bondsmen.

The arrest of the men came in connection with a raid on four cars in the Burlington yards early Saturday morning. One car containing steel was not disturbed. Merchandise, flour and feed valued at approximately $1,500 constituted the haul from the other three cars. The loot was being hauled away in a wagon when Special Burlington Agent Maroney and Ray Carroll, American Railway Express company special, blocked the game.

Boell was arrested at his home two and one half miles southwest of Lincoln. Shaw and Scheiger, seventeen, escaped but were captured on the following day. Schleiger is said by the officers to be a brother-in-law of Shaw. The youth admitted having broken the seals, according to the officers. He is said to have placed the merchandise at the car entrance where it was carried away by the older men. Officers claim to have recovered at the Boell place, articles stolen from a car some two weeks ago.

Altho the men were arraigned in state court, officers say that the federal officers may have a case if they see fit to push it since one car—that contained flour and feed was an interstate shipment. It was billed from Crete to Malvern, Ia. From this car, eight sacks of flour and eight sacks of wheat screenings were taken.

Boell has a wife and four children, and Shaw a wife and two children.

Both men, according to State Sheriff Carroll, have been arrested for liquor violations. Boell gave as an excuse that he is out of work. The officers say that he owns forty acres of land stocked with a bunch of fat hogs and two cows in addition to may chickens.

LODGE CONFERS DEGREES.

Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 5 of Lincoln, held a special communication for the initiation of candidates, Saturday evening at the new Masonic Templt, Twenty-seventh and S streets, when twelve candidates were initiated. Job's Daughters, an order for girls between 13 and 18 years of age with Masonic relatives, is fostered largely by the O. E. S. and is similar in its purpose to the DeMolay for boys. The Bethel received an invitation from East Lincoln Lodge to hold initiatory exercises in the new Masonic Temple. Mrs. W. G. Fullagar, Worthy Matron of No. 148 called the meeting to order. Mrs. Alice M. Stanhope, responded. The Bethel was then opened. Those receiving the degrees were: Ruth Norma Barnard; Rowena Bengston; Susan W. Field; Elizabeth Anita Grone; Charlotte E. Hall; Margaret E. Harrison; Dorothy Jackson; Virginia L. Loper; Mildred I. McWilliams; Goldie F. Munson; Emma G. Young and Virginia M. Young.

The members of the class were presented with a rose by the Honored Queen on behalf of the Bethel. Dr. A. L. Bixby's address was greatly appreciated.

Miss Creda Bricka a member of the Bethel presented the Worthy Matron Mrs. Fullager with a bouquet of roses who responded in deep appreciation to the Bethel.

MODERN CLEANERS

WHICH SHALL IT BE BRIDGE OR MAH JONG

By Julia Hoyt.

The new game, mah jong, a present from China, has certainly taken America by storm. We are a great nation for fads, I think, and it still remains to be seen whether mah jong is a fad or a permanent acquisition. Personally I am not qualified to judge, as I have only played mah jong once or twice. In the last few years there have been a number of games that have come along and people have said: "This is going to take the place of auction bridge!" But somehow or other it never does.

However, there is no doubt that mah jong has temporarily taken away many good and enthusiastic bridge players. Being a faithful devotee of bridge, I cannot understand this. Tho many people have tried to convince me that mah jong has as great interest and possibilities as bridge, I cannot agree with them. Bridge can never be dull for the reason that even if your cards are bad, there is always the possibility of playing them in such a way as to get more out of your hand, or prevent your opponents from getting as much as, at first glance, one would think unavoidable.

It seems to me that one should either play a real game of chance, such as roulette, in which there is the thrill of pure luck, or a game in which one's brains and skill are the principal thing. I realize that there is a certain amount of skill necessary in mah jong, but I believe also that, as in dominoes, for instance, the main factor is luck.

Another thing that is so interesting in bridge is the personal equation. The capacity for studying your opponents as well as your partner has as much to do with a good game of bridge as any other one thing. For instance, if you are playing with John Smith, and know his game at all, you may play your cards and bid in quite a different way than if you were playing with James Brown. People who realize this and play accordingly have gone quite a long way on the road to being good bridge players.

Of course there is the side that in mah jong you are independent of any partner. You play your own game and nobody can either help or hurt you. A certain married man said to me the other day that he had at last found a game he could play with his wife without fighting with her, because she could not hurt him in mah jong. This is, of course, a point to be considered, as we all like to keep the home as happy as possible!

Mah jong is, of course, a charming game to look at, and the Chinese, being very clever people, have realized this and are "making hay while the sun shines." The number of beautiful sets they are sending over is enormous, and I am told that they are making more money out of Americans than they have ever made in their lives before.

Mah jong may prevent quarrelling between husbands and wives who are playing together, but, as nobody in America has yet agreed on the scoring of mah jong, it has certainly not prevented wrangling among people in general. They all have different ideas about it, and I have yet to find more than perhaps two or three people who can agree.

Last summer I went to Newport for a Sunday and all I could hear on the beach was:

"My dear, wasn't it outrageous what she did last night? Have you ever heard of anybody trying to score that way?"—and then a few remarks about the east wind, heavenly twins, etc., all of which sounded to me rather dull and not particularly happy conversation to listen to all the evening.

Perhaps I have not seemed very sympathetic with mah jong enthusiasts! It is a fascinating game and many of the mah jong sets are so beautiful that it is a delight to own them. But, nevertheless, it is my opinion that bridge will be played in America long after mah jong is gone and forgotten.

EMIL KOTAS HELD IN JAIL

No Bond Furnished for Release During Suspension of Sentence.

GENEVA, Neb., April 28.—The bond of $7,500 fixed by the district judge as necessary to release Emil J. Potas from jail pending his appeal to the supreme court has not yet been offered. Kotas was sentenced April 12 in district court for forgery to serve a term of from three to seven years in the penitentiary. During a twenty day suspension of sentence for appeal he was remanded to jail and bail refused. His attorneys secured a writ of error from the higher court in order to release him from jail but no bondsmen have been obtained. Conviction of Kotas was secured in district court for alleged forging of his sister-in-law's name to a note of $2,000.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

The marriage of Miss Helen Lincoln, daughter of Prof. Paul Lincoln of 111 Oak Hill Road, Ithaca, N. Y., to John W. Reavis of Cleveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank Reavis of Lincoln will take place Saturday morning in the Gage Memorial chapel in the presence of the immediate members of the two families. The bride will be given in marriage by her father and her only attendant will be her sister, Betty. Mr. Reavis' brother, C. Frank Reavis, jr., will serve as best man. An informal reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's father will follow the ceremony. After a short honeymoon in the east Mr. Reavis and bride will be at home about the first of June at 2105 Stillman Road, Cleveland.

Miss Hilda Chow is entertained at the Woodburn Monday with a 1 o'clock luncheon followed by a five o'clock party complimentary to Miss Helen Burkett whose marriage to Marvin Meyers, Thursday evening is an event of the week. At luncheon the guests numbering ten were seated at one table with a color scheme of pink and lavender used in the appointments. A crystal vase filled with pink sweet peas and ferns formed the centerpiece and lavender candles in crystal sticks were tied with pink tulle. Pink May baskets marked the guests' places and at Miss Burkett's place was a pink basket filled with lavender sweetpeas. Small candelabra were given as favors.

Over one hundred girls attended the kid party given by the Freshman commission of the University of Nebraska Saturday afternoon at Ellen Smith hall. Red balloons decorated the hall and lolly pops, pop corn and ice cream cones were served. Prizes for the best costumes were given to Evelyn Shumway for the best little boy and Mable for the little girl. A playlet, "Mrs. Stone and All Her Little Pebbles" was given. Louise VanSickle whistled, Laura Whelpley and Flordila Nye sang, "Little Sister Blues" and Margaret Dunlap spoke a piece. The committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of Marie Bowden, Edith Reid and Laura Whelpley.

Altrusa national convention will be held in Omaha next year, according to word received from Miss Amanda Heppner, Lincoln delegate to the meeting just concluded at Kalamazoo. Lincoln club backed Omaha's invitation. Miss Heppner wired Miss Katherine Dougan, president, as follows: "1925 convention to Omaha. Vocational guidance national policy adopted. Gillette Hayden, Columbus, president. Omaha and Council Bluffs want Sunday meeting with Lincoln. Consult Omaha. Convention glorious, great inspiration. Leave Sunday for Chicago."

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Boyd, 2625 South, gave a reception Friday evening in honor of Miss Irene Flint, of Huntington, W. Va., Miss Alice Wood assisted in receiving the guests. A short program was given with Mrs. Don Berry playing a group of violin solos and Miss Pauline Wood singing a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Clara Johnston. Miss Lula Astonwall was in charge of refreshments.

The annual working-student banquet under the auspices of the employment secretary of the University Y. M. C. A., will be held Thursday, at 6 p. m. at the Grand hotel. Welch Pogue will be toastmaster. G. T. Sprecher, special agent of the Lincoln Telephone company, has returned to the office after having been kept at home since January by a broken leg. His accident, which was serious, was caused by slipping on an icy street.

Rev. P. L. O'Loughlin left Sunday evening for Cincinnati, where he will attend the consecration, Thursday, of Monsignor Francis J. Beckmann, as bishop. The installation of Bishop Beckmann will take place, May 15, at St. Mary's cathedral, Lincoln.

Mrs. C. S. Paine of the Nebraska state historical society started Monday for Louisville, Ky., to attend a meeting of the officers of the Mississippi valley historical society of which she is secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bennison and little daughter, Marian of Haxtum, Col., arrived Sunday for a visit with Mrs. Bennison's mother, Mrs. H. E. Wood.

Guy Campbell, connected with the Nebraska City Water and Light Co., recently underwent an operation at a Lincoln hospital and is now convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edmiston left the last of the week for Cincinnati, O., where they will be for a week or ten days.

MANY GOLDFISH IN LAKE

Sandhill Lake Is an Attraction With Millions of Goldfish.

ALLIANCE, Neb., April 28.—Among the other attractions of western Nebraska is a lake of goldfish. The lake covers 200 acres on the Copsey & Britian ranch south of Lakeside and it is literally filled with Chinese goldfish. They are deep red in color and so thick that they give the water a red-ish tinge.

The fish will not bite at bait and the only way they can be caught is in a net. They weigh from one to two pounds and make good eating. Where they came from or how long they have been in the lake the owners do not know, but they are there in vast number.

HARVEY KETTLEHUT FINED FOR SPEEDING

Man Facing Prosecution for Manslaughter and Two Damage Suits Fined $100 and Costs.

Harvey Kettlehut who faces two damage suits following the death of Bertie Meier and injury of a companion, when his car ran into three girls at Sixteenth and N, November 6, last, was fined $100 and costs, and his brother, Leslie, $44 and costs when they were arraigned in police court Monday morning on a charge of speeding and racing. They were arrested at Seventeenth and Holdrege Sunday afternoon.

The boys were going forty-four miles an hour, according to the speed officer who arrested them.

Judge Chappell holds Holdrege street a particularly dangerous place to speed.

Harvey Kettlehut is under bond on a charge of manslaughter, and two damage suits of $5,000 each were filed against him by Bertie Meier of Scribner who died of a fractured skull shortly after being run down by his car, and Etta Parks, also of Scribner, who was injured at the same time.

AD CLUB HEARS OLD TIMER

John H. Kate, an Advertiser for Thirty-two Years, Gives Members Some Pointers.

"After advertising for thirty-two years, I had to retire for fear my wife would divorce me for getting too rich," said John H. Kate at the beginning of his talk before the Lincoln Ad club Monday noon at the chamber of commerce. Mr. Kate told of his mercantile and manufacturing career in Iowa and at Wayne, and laid stress on the indispensable character of advertising.

"The best place to advertise," he said, "is everywhere, and the proper time is all the time. If you repeat often enough, people will believe what you say, tho you offer no evidence. Get a trademark and use it until everybody is familiar with it. I don't chew gum, but I know the flavor lasts, and if I wanted to chose one, you know what cleaner I would use.

"Advertise your goods along with your business. I know that small towns who draw trade 100 miles and more, because they know their people and the people know them. I know more than 10,000 people myself, and I can tell you the color of the eyes of half of them."

T. A. Blakeslee was made chairman of the nominating committee, which will present a slate at the next meeting, May 12, to be voted on at the second meeting in May. Donald Bell will speak on "Telephone Facts" at the next meeting of the club.

DAUGHERTY FIGHTS CASE

HIS ATTORNEYS TO CONTEST EXTRADITION.

Hope to Institute Proceedings to Prevent Taking of the Banker to Washington for Contempt.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., April 28.—Attorneys for Mal Daugherty, president of the Midland National bank and brother of the former attorney general, indicated today they will institute proceedings to prevent Daugherty being taken to Washington.

The time set for the formality of Daugherty's arrest, ordered by the United States senate because he refused to testify before the committee investigating th edepartment of justice, was fixed for noon but in the meantime John McGrain, deputy sergeant-at-arms, sent here to arrest him, wired Washington for further instructions.

WANTS HAVELOCK AS AN INDUSTRIAL ZONE

Dr. Ballard Offers City Planning Subdivision an Idea for Making Lincoln Into a Real City.

"Make Havelock the industrial zone of Lincoln, and Havelock will make Lincoln a city, instead of an overgrown country town."

This was the text on which Dr. C. F. Ballard preached a little homily to the city planning subdivision Monday at the chamber of commerce.

"You want Havelock to come in, and we are ready to come in when we get something for it," he concluded. John Ledwith replied that the legislature had opened a way for the suburbs to join Lincoln, and that whenever one of them did so, Lincoln was ready to take care of any part of itself.

J. W. Searson suggested a survey of sanitary and health agencies of Lincoln, and Chairman Tomson said he would name a committee to do this work in connection with the public health subdivisiod of the chamber. H. K. Burket reported that the location subcommittee of the auditorium committee was busy. O. J. Ferguson asked for assistance in the work of his housing committee, as the job was a big one.

J. E. Palm spoke briefly on the new Lincoln theater, and pointed out that it would insure the biggest pictures for Lincoln while they were new, that the company was building for the next twenty-five years, and that it was bringing money into Lincoln instead of asking for a donation.

The chair appointed a committee to survey and line up suitable pieces of ground for consideration in extending the city's park system. Its members are:

John M. Alexander	E. C. Hardy
L. M. Troup	E. J. Cline

PROHIBITIONISTS TO MEET

Will Hold Their State Convention Thursday at Y. M. C. A.

The prohibitionists state convention will be held Thursday at the Y. M. C. A. club room. The meeting will be held for the purpose of drafting the platform, electing the state committee and to attend to other business. Arrangements will also be made for the delegates attending the convention at Columbus, Ohio, to be held early in June.

STATE FUNDS WERE USED BY MISTAKE

One Dollar and Ten Cents Expended by Governor Bryan's Private Coal Company Is Repaid.

When Governor Bryan's hired men at the capitol found they had used $1.10 of state funds to pay for a rubber stamp for the governor's private coal company, they promptly reimbursed the fund from which the item got into a voucher by mistake.

The matter was stirred up Monday when Senator George Wilkins of the senate investigating committee produced a photographic copy of a bill sent in by the Lincoln Stamp & Seal company last November. The bill contained several items and was rendered against the department of welfare. Included in the items was one covering a rubber stamp for Governor Bryan's so called "State Coal Co." The voucher covering the items was not made out until January 22, 1924. It was drawn up the revolving fund which the finance department controls thru the state purchasing agent.

J. R. Farris, state purchasing agent, said the $1.10 was restored to the revolving fund March 6 by personal check. The check is in the April business and has not yet come back. Mr. Farris said no supplies or stationery for the governor's coal company are bought with state funds. The expenses of the coal business are paid by purchasers of coal.

The bill which includes a rubber stamp for the coal business was sent by mistake to the state treasurer's office, explained Senator Wilkins.

HITS 56 MILE GAIT ON O

Harry Stevens of Fremont Fined $1 a Mile Following Arrest Monday Morning.

Harry E. Stevens, charged with speeding fifty-six miles an hour on O street from Twenty-third to Twenty-eighth, was arrested by Speed Officer Wait at 8 a. m. Monday. Mr. Stevens is from Fremont. He was fined $56 and costs in police court later in the morning. Mr. Stevens said he came into Lincoln Saturday for the week end and was returning to Fremont when arrested.

FARMING ON LARGE SCALE

ALLIANCE, Neb., April 28.—Corn will replace potatoes in many acres of Box Butte county farm land this season, according to the early indication. Dick O'Bannon will plant 1,000 acres of corn and only 500 bushels of potatoes, altho he plans on having 2,500 acres to crop.

He will adopt the same plan as last season when he let cattle and hogs feed on the corn during the winter and sold them at a nice profit in the spring.

The sale of several 1,000-egg incubators this spring, the first of this capacity to be sold here, indicates that there will be several thousand more chickens raised in the county this year. There are also indications of increased dairying and more intensive darying.

DISCARDS PECK MEASURE

PHILADELPHIA, April 28. The state of New Jersey is soon to begin buying "spuds" by the pound instead of by the peck. On the first day of July, all New Jersey produce dealers will turn over to the milkman pecks, quarts and pints. After July 1 all produce dealers sold by weight and those who deal in scales anticipate a lai dedfine business.

MRS. DIETRICH OF HASTINGS HONORED

Nebraska Woman Is Chosen Regional Director of Sixth District, League of Women Voters.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 28.—The national league of women voters convention today elected the following regional directors:

First district—Mrs. James K. Cheeseman, Providence, R. I.

Second—Miss Gertrude Ely, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Third—Miss Adele Clark, Richmond, Va.

Fourth—Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Chicago.

Fifth—Miss Margaret Wells, Minneapolis.

Sixth—Mrs. Charles Dietrich, Hastings, Neb.

Seventh—Mrs. Walter Shockley, Reno, Nev.

The adoption of the program of work for 1924-25, the report of the resolutions committee, occupied the entire morning session.

Mrs. Maude Wood Park, Boston, who presided, urged the delegates not to be unanimous on all questions, and hoped that members with a "pet resolution that might be defeated would be good sports and come again next year."

A movement to support introduction and passage of an amendment to give suffrage to the district of Columbia was defeated.

The league will urge legislation for a shorter ballott, the direct primary, the merit system in civil service and the budget systems so far as these are already in effect.

Mrs. G. E. Atwood, California, appealed to women to write their representatives in congress, urging full citizenship rights for territorial Indians.

Delegates to the national league of women voters were divided in sentiment today over the United States entry into the tangled affairs of Europe when the convention entered the second week.

Speakers came to the defense of the league of nations with spirited pleas following Hamilton Fish's attack upon it as an "impotent and powerless organization."

At a mass metting Sunday night Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, internationally known peace advocate, laid the blame for the suspicion, distrust and fear that stalks thru the world today at the door of the United States, and on the policy that barred the country from membership.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Montana, came to the defense of the world court, not as an end in itself, to secure peace, but as a step in the direction of international security and friendship and urged cooperation, but not membership in the league.

At the business session today the report of the election committee on regional directors was made.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 28.—Birth control was defeated by an overwhelming vote as a subject of study for the national league of women voters after a spirited debate on the convention floor today.

GET PERMISSION TO SELL

Proposed Barge Line Secures State Authority to Issue Additional Stock.

The Western Barge Line company of Missouri secured permission from the state railway commission to issue $13,000 additional stock to finance the building of its steamboat and barge. The company has sold $15,000 worth of stock, of which $4,500 has been sold in Nebraska. Banks at Decatur are safeguarding the funds of investors by acting as trustees, and pay out the money as needed for construction purposes.

The line is being backed by experienced river men, who propose to operate a steamboat and four barges on the Missouri river between Omaha and Sioux City. The river towns and farmers are anxious for the experiment to succeed, as they can handle their stuff easier and cheaper by the barge line way.

The steamboat is almost finished, and money is needed now to pay for the barges, which cost $2,200 each. Farm products are to be marketed by the barge line and on its up river trips it is planned to carry goods and merchandise. If the experiment is a success on the upper river the promoters plan to extend the service in time to St. Louis.

BOMB HOME OF DRY MAN

BOOTLEGGERS CHARGED WITH CRIME IN CHICAGO.

House of Rev. Elmer Williams, Dry Crusader, Damaged and Members of Family Are Hurled From Beds.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Bootleggers bombed the home of Rev. Elmer L. Williams, dry crusader, here early today. The entire front of the Williams home was ripped out, but all members of the family escaped, with only shocks and bruises, caused by being hurled from bed.

Rev. Mr. Williams gave the police the names of two notorious bootleggers. He said he had been threatened with death unless he put a stop to his crusades against rum running.

Rev. Mr. Williams is director of the Better Government league and has been active in searching for evidence of bootleggers and directing raids.

UNDER A NEW BANNER.

BERLIN, April 28.—Republicans, especially laborers, seeing monarchism and facism sweeping onward in a cloud threatening to destroy the infant German republic, have founded a movement to counter the Hitlerites. The new organization bears the title "Reichsbanner Schwarz-Rot-Gold" (republic banner black-red-gold). It sets its flag against the iron cross, swastika cross, death's head and other emblems of Hitler's and Geisler's anti-Semites, anti-republicans and anti-almost-everything monarchism and militarism.

William T. Tilden, national champion, defeated Manuel Alonso, Spanish Davis cup player, in an exhibition match.

Champions Forced to go Thirteen Frames to Win

SOLONS DROP EXTRA SESSION GAME, 1 TO 2

Tate's Double in Thirteenth Gives Game to Oklahoma City—Denver, Tulsa and St. Joe Also Win.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., April 28 – Don Songer and Joe Tate proved powerful Indian medicine Sunday. While Songer southpawed as he never southpawed before thru thirteen tense innings, Tate drove in both runs that gave Oklahoma City a 2 to 1 victory over Lincoln in the sweetest pitching duel the new tribal battleground has witnessed. Young Mister Dudley of the winsome smile, the nice breaking curve and the clever head proved by far the most definite flinger the Indians have faced this season

During the usual nine innings he yielded only three hits and seven were all the clouting. Savages were able to bump him for during the entire three hours of effort. At times, however, he was just a trifle wild Successive bases on balls to Blackburn and Spencer, Krueger's sacrifice and Tate's single produced the first Indian marker in the second round. It was a base on balls to Spencer that led to his downfall in his unlucky thirteenth.

Solons Score in Seventh.

A double by Young at the starting of the seventh enabled Lincoln to score off Songer. His hit was a Texas leaguer to center which fell in front of Sweeney and stuck in the mud while the fielder raced by. Dudley hopped to take and then Moore shot what ordinarily would have been a single into left, it struck rough going and bounded past Blackburn for two bases while Young went home.

After that the visitors never had a chance to put over a run. It looked like Oklahoma City might break the tie in the twelfth, when, with one gone Sweeney beat out an infield hit and stole second McNally, however, missed the third strike and the side was retired when Blackburn grounded to Young for the third time.

Spencer, first up in the thirteenth drew four straight balls. Krueger boosted him along with a sacrifice and brought up Tate.

Tate is Dudley's Poison.

Joe was the one Indian who seemed to be able to get to Dudley for he had hit him for a single and a double and had been hit by pitched balls twice in the past. This time he got another outside the plate to his liking, he met it squarely for a line drive to right Kinsella raced over to intercept it Had he made connections there would have been a pretty race between Spencer and the throw for the plate, but it took a contrary bound and rolled almost to the scoreboard while Spencer trotted in with the winning tally. Score:

Lincoln	000 000 100 000 0—1	9	1
Okla. City	010 000 000 000 1—2	7	1

Tulsa Wins Another Game.

TULSA, Okla., April 28.—Tulsa made it two in a row from Omaha by taking Sunday's game, 3 to 2. "Stream-line" Stanton, former Nebraska state league pitcher and Jack Tesar put on a mound duel that was interesting all the way. Five double plays, three by the locals and two by Omaha, helped enliven the proceedings. Score:

Poirer Shuts Out Boosters.

ST. JOSEPH, April 28.—Connie Poirer, former University of Kansas pitcher, pitched his second shut out game since his debut with St. Joseph Sunday, when he blanked Des Moines 6 to 0. The best the Boosters could get was two clean hits and a scratch. Poirer started his estern league career by blanking Lincoln here last week. Score:

LITTLE LESSONS IN Baseball

When should a catcher signal for a "waste ball"?

Answered by
RAY SCHALK.

Catcher, Chicago White Sox: One of the greatest backstops of all time. Has caught in 100 or more games per season for the past twelve years.

A catcher should at all times follow the plays in the field so that he can anticipate what is coming and, when the occasion arises, signal his pitcher for a waste ball. If the catcher is watching the field and sees that a runner is about to steal, or a hit and run play has been called, he flashes the signal for a waste ball. The result, if the catcher is a man of sound judgement and brains, is a man thrown out on bases

Harry Wills Has Everything to Lose; Nothing to Gain By Bout

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.

NEW YORK, April 28.—With a couple of big shots in prospect there are few prominent boxers who are willing to take a chance on warming up or working out with any opponent who might be figured to have any chance of letting one fly that would spoil the prospects.

Luis Angel Firpo gave boxers some excellent lessons in caution when he was told by Tex Rickard that he could get a chance for the heavyweight championship if he kept his jaw out of the way of destruction. Firpo made himself on some of the worst setups in the game, altho some might argue that Jess Willard was not an easy mark.

Firpo's advisers figured, however, that Willard would do just what he did do. They knew that he was not able to go a distance and they were sure that he would not postpone action when he found out that the going was getting too rough.

Willard took the count on the chair in his corner at Toledo when he lost the championship to Jack Dempsey, and he was crawling for the stool when the referee caught him with the count of ten in the ring with Firpo.

Assured of Two Fights.

Harry Wills is practically assured of at least two big shots this summer. He needs work, of course, to get back into good fighting shape, but he could get the jobs offered him by Tex Rickard even if he didn't put a glove on until he started training.

Wills accepted a match with Bartley Madden, the Irish heavyweight, when he began to be hounded by the writers and the public for keeping himself out of the range of all kinds of fists.

Madden does not look like a fighter in the record book. He is one of the battlers who got so far in the game and never stopped, and he has made money out of being used as a trial horse. When he challenged Wills, and was accepted, it was hinted that the colored heavyweight was still looking for the easy ones.

Smart managers and experienced critics feel now that Wills made a very bad match when he accepted Madden's challenge because he has everything to lose and not a single thing to gain.

If Wills knocks out Madden with a punch or two, or in three or four rounds, he will get no credit, because Madden will be held up as a pushover. If Madden should carry him thru nine or ten rounds, or should last the limit, the colored heavyweight will have a hard job presenting a suitable alibi.

Madden is one of the toughest and gamest fighters in the ring. There is no one, including Dempsey, who has a stouter heart than Madden, and it is possible that there is no fighter who can take as much and take it as long as Madden can.

Several years ago, when Tom Gibbons was knocking them all over with a punch or two, Madden went ten rounds with him, and when the last bell sounded he was still on his feet. For eight rounds Gibbons had pounded him on the jaw with rights and lefts, but he couldn't put him out. Madden was so cut up from the beating that doctors had to take sixteen stitches in his face.

Just Wanted to Stay.

Madden at that time had been doing very little training. He knew he could stay ten rounds with any fighter in the game and he was interested only in staying. Against Wills, however, Madden probably will be a different fighter, at least physically better. He has been training for more than three months, and if he is in shape, there is no way of telling how much he will be able to take.

Against an opponent of such durability, Wills will be in great danger of breaking one of his fragile fists. He has broken his right hand several times and has lost a hundred thousand dollars in business because of his weak maulers. He can't hit a soft one without being in danger of fracturing some bones, and against Madden he will be acting a concrete part.

Under the circumstances it might be figured that the fight is "in the bag" Madden is going to place. His record won't be marred if it is a knockout by Harry Wills and it would get near so much more if it worked out Wills because he could beat Madden as Wills was then all he time and that he was just waiting for some fair fighter to come along and push him over.

Madden, however, is not likely to be induced to take a flop before Wills, nor is it probable that he would even accept a proposition to help his opponent in the slightest, because he has never shown anything in the past that would indicate that he was anything but a straight fighter.

Know Madden is Tough.

If Wills is certain that his hands are in good shape and that he can beat Madden in a few rounds, he was smart in taking the match, because the men in the business know that Madden is a tough, hard fighter, even if the fans do not feel that way about it.

O'NEILL WINS FROM EMMET.

O'NEILL, Neb., April 28.—O'Neill defeated Emmet in the opening game of the North Nebraska baseball season at Emmet Sunday afternoon, 5 to 1. More than two thousand fans witnessed the game. Batteries for O'Neill, Pierson and Ford; for Emmet, Snyder and Farr. O'Neill next Sunday plays the Norfolk Tri State team at Norfolk.

LITTLE LESSONS IN GOLF

PLAYING THE MASHIE
WEIGHT HERE
ON ENTIRE SWING.
IF WEIGHT IS ON RIGHT FOOT INSTEAD OF LEFT YOU HIT UP AT BALL AND LOSE BACKSPIN.

In playing the mashie which leg should carry the balance of weight at the top of the swing?

Answered by
WILLIAM MELHORN.

"The St. Louis Youngster" whose battering courage and sound golf enable him to finish well up in all the tournaments he enters.

In playing the mashie, the left leg should carry the weight from the time you address the ball until you finish. If your weight is on your right foo, a number of things happen to destroy the efficiency of the shot such as mostly hitting up at the ball, losing all backspin. Keeping your weight on the left leg will help develop backspin and give you more control in placing difficult mashie shots where you wish them to go

FARE AND HALF TO PREVAIL FOR MEET

Contestants in the Missouri Valley track meet here May 24 will be given a fare and a half rate, the University of Nebraska was advised Monday. Any school in a state where there is a member of the conference is eligible to enter. As an example, all state colleges in Nebraska will be eligible to compete.

THE FANNING BEEHIVE.

Manager Wakefield and his Solons are in Lincoln ready for the opening gun locally. Now that the boys are becoming acquainted and the pitching is showing some improvement, things are looking up. The thirteen-inning game at Okalhoma City Sunday proves that. Oklahoma City, it might be well to recall, won the pennant last season. And the champions haven't been against such pitching as Dudley furnished them thus far this season, in the opinion of the Journal's Oklahoma City correspondent. Wakefield got here Monday morning and the team will arrive at 5 p. m.

Mike Baker, the shortstop obtained from Kansas City, has been released. Hamilton seems to be caring for the shortfield properly, in the opinion of Manager Wakefield.

Byron Speece won his first major league baseball game for Washington Sunday. He went in for the last three innings to relieve Zachary. Three hits were obtained off the former Nebraska state and Western league. The score was tied when Speece went in, but the Senators got to hitting and trimmed Boston.

"Baseball is considerably like life. It all seems to even up some day," Manager Wakefield said upon his arrival home. "Last year at Peoria twenty-one defeats were chalked up in succession. Then the same ball club turned around and won twenty-one straight games. I've got a club now. Make no mistake about that. The pitchers are beginning to come, and when they get right they'll not continue kicking us around the league."

The Elks' committee in charge of arrangements for opening day Tuesday announced that everything was in readiness to properly usher Western league baseball back into one of its old stamping grounds.

Des Moines has decided to try a college pitcher. "Nic" Riley, who attends St. Thomas college at St. Paul, has signed a contract. Possible the three-hit performance of Connie Poirer, former Kansas university twirler, who blanked the Boosters Sunday had something to do with it. It was Poirer's second shutout victory since entering professional baseball with St. Joe. He's pitched but two games.

Of the nineteen cities which have held membership in the Western league, only seven have lasted a decade. Omaha and Des Moines Moines started with the league a quarter of a century ago and never have been out of it. St. Joseph and Denver each dropped out four years. Wichita is doing its second trick and has been in the league fourteen seasons. Lincoln comes back in this year to start its thirteenth season. Sioux City, going out for the third time, has fought thru twenty-one campaigns, nine of which saw it finish in first division. St. Paul and Minneapolis each got in for a season and then got out after winning a pennant.

FIGHTS AND FIGHTERS.

New York—Owing to excessive financial demands made by Louis Firpo, Tex Rickard anounced that he had notified his representative to discontinue all discussion with the South American champion. Rickard said that Firpo demanded $250,000 for meeting Harry Wills and had shown that he was afraid of Wills by turning down an offer of $200,000.

Geneva — Clement, light heavyweight champion of Switzerland, claimed the European championship today after winning a twenty-round decision from Bronnel, French champion.

New York—Erminio Spalla, European heavyweight champion, who has contracted to appear in a number of contests for Tex Rickard, is scheduled to arrive today from South America. Spalla probably will do his training in New Jersey.

Chicago—Warnie Smith, Oklahoma Cowboy, and Barney Adair, New York, are scheduled to fight ten rounds here Monday night. "Kid" Herman and Alex Trambitas are on for the semi-windup.

SPORT TABLOIDS.

Chicago—Jock Hutchison, western golf champion, defeated Chick Evans, western amateur champion, in an exhibition match here yesterday. Hutchison won 2 up and 1 to play.

Chicago—Chicago tennis clubs and players plan a petition advocating abolition of the player-writer amateur rule of the United States Lawn Tennis Association. It was this rule that brought the resignation of William Tilden.

Chicago—Major General Henry T Allen, director of America's 1924 Olympic entries, is here today to boost for Chicago's Olympic funds. Radio stations WTAS of Elgin will broadcast this talk tonight.

HAVERS IS WINNER IN SECOND MATCH

British Open Champion's Victory Over Gene Sarazen Starts Talk of Match to Be Held in England.

NEW YORK, April 28.—It may require a match in England at the time of the British open championship in June to determine which golfer is the best—Gene Sarazen, American professional champion, or Arthur Havers, British open champion.

That such a match will be arranged was suggested here today when Havers came out of his second contest with sarazen a clear victor. Sarazen previously had won from Havers in a match played on the west coast

Havers trimmed the American title holder five and four in the match, 36 holes of which were played in Philadelphia Saturday, with the final 36 holes played at the Westchester-Biltmore club here yesterday.

The Credulous Mr. McLean.

New Republic: Edward B. McLean's testimony before the senate committee was not of a character to increase the public's respect for his intelligence. He apparently sought hard to set up the picture of himself as a credulous, simple, and far-too-easily persuaded man, the victim of his own loyalty to a friend. He asserts that he does not know Sinclair or Doheny, and never found the real source of Fall's sudden wealth until in January of this year. He was made an agent of the department of justice only in order to get thru the police lines while traveling with the president; he did not and does not know the codes in which telegrams were sent him, and did not fully understand some of them; he has been the victim of a host of advisers, volunteer and paid, who by their anxiety to get him out of trouble have got him in ten times worse. On the whole, this self-portrait is probably a correct one. In McLean's code of honor a small lie for a friend is of no consequence, a big one is; and he was undoubtedly appalled to find that what he regarded as a perfunctory falsehood told for his friend Fall was the gravest mistake of his whole career. Even this interpretation, however, still leaves his candor under some suspicion: notably, as to his insistence that he did not know who "the principal" was, when it is obvious that that principal was President Coolidge; and as to the reiterated story that he actually gave Fall checks, for $100,000, tho he had not sufficient funds on deposit to cover them, checks which have mysteriously disappeared taking their stubs with them.

LATEST MARKETS

CHICAGO, April 28.—Grains closed with an irregular under tone on the Chicago board of trade today. Wheat and oats were lower, corn higher. Considerable changing over from May to Deferred deliveries featured in all grains.

Wheat closed at a slight decline after recovering most of the day's losses. The rally was influenced by corn.

Indications of a lighter movement in corn for the next few days due to rainy weather caused shorts to cover and brot a recovery from the day's slump.

Oats felt the effects of weakness in wheat and closed lower.

Provisions remained inactive after midday.

Tribune Report.

CHICAGO April 28.—Until there is a change in sentiment among legislators at Washington, present grain market conditions are likely to continue. With the McNary-Haugen bill to come up in the senate in about ten days and the Calaway bill pending in the senate, it is no wonder that the trade should be semi-demoralized.

With a present prospect of a wheat crop of more than 500,000,000 bushels in both belts, it is doubtful whether there will be sufficient increase in the speculative buying to absorb hedges when the new crop commences to move unless fears of legislation subside.

There are prospects of deliveries of 3 to 4,000,000 wheat in the first few days of next month.

More corn is moving. Consumption in the interlt olohrosuid shut off in the near future as pastures generally improve and feeding of grain will be lessened. The cash demand from the east is limited, as various feeds are available there at relatively lower prices. Consumption of corn by industries is lighter, as the demand for glucose and starch is reported as slow.

Unless weather conditions improve in the northwest, oats seeding may be a little late. Seeding in the leading oats states, however, is nearly completed.—Lamson.

Grain Market Opinions.

Riordan & Martin: We look for higher prices.

Thomson McKinnen: The actual supply and demand does ont attract speculative buying.

Stein Alstrin: We favor buying on the setbacks.

Clement Curtis & Co.: A better cash demand is needed.

Hulburd Warren & Chandler: We expect lower prices.

Logan & Bryan: Two sided markets are indicated.

Harris Winthrop & Co.: The cash demand remains inadequate.

Bartlett-Frazier & Co: Selling will probably appear on rallies.—Lamson.

Herald-Examiner Report.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The world's situation at the present time appears to be more healthy than for well over a year. Political interference is hurting business. Early forecast indicates mostly unsettled with showers probable in Ind., Mich., Wis., Minn., N. D., Mont., Wyoming. Heavy snow and rain in Canada, 11 inches in Manitoba put a stop to all agricultural work. Fargo, N. D., raining, rained all Friday, all Saturday and stopped yesterday for a short time, but now raining hard again. Ohio 44 to 50 heavy rains; Minneapolis clear 40; Missouriclear, light forsts in low places; Nebraska clear about 40. Illinois, Indiana, Ohio heavy rains and cool. Iowa part cloudy 45 to 52; rains yesterday.—Lamson

Journal of Commerce Report.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Conflicting political news continues to disturb the grain trade. Deliveries of wheat on May contracts are expected to be mainly of yellow and other sorts; not as highly favorable to the milling trade.

Leading elevator interests claim oats in store are not meeting iwth a satisfactory outlet and they will deliver them unless there is a more profitable carrying charge.

There is no demand for rye, which appears to be in a weaker position than any other grain.

In general investment buying has withdrawn from all grains on account of the political moves.

Omaha Livestock.

OMAHA, April 28.—Cattle: receipts 9,500 head. With heavier receipts than the trade expected the market was slow and lower from start to finish. Bids and sales ranged from 10c to 25c under last week's closing quotations and undertone to the trade was decidedly weak thruout. Cows and heifers shared in the general decline and the outlet was very restricted for anything short of prime heifers. Business in stockers and feeders was quiet, receipts being somewhat larger than usual and general trend of values lower.

Only three sales of beef steers had been reported at noon, as follows:

No.	Av.	Price	No.	Av.	Price
5	848	$7.25	18	1360	$10.20
21	882	8.25

Hogs—receipts 15,000. Some what larger supplies than expected at Chicago, together with slightly lower trade at that point gave local trade a rather weak tone this morning with shippers taking on a few of the best butcher grades early at prices 5@10c lower than Saturday. Initial bids from packers were fully 10 cents lower but nothing of consequence changed hands early on this basis. Bulk of sales $6.55@7.05, top $7.10.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO REGULATE BANKS

in the general list which has largely brought about the retreat of an overcrowded bear following.

With the impetus which came from short covering derived of the urgency which usually marks the initial stages of such a period of conviction professional operators were emboldened to try their hand.

The new pressure of steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, American Woolen and other industrial leaders, found the issues lacking the support afforded last week by an excess of commitments for the decline. As a result they sold off more easily for 2 or 3 points when they once more encountered investment accumulation and buying for bearish trading.

There was a rally in the industrial group in the final dealings led by east iron pipe. American Can came back more than a point from its low of 100¼ and similar recoveries took place in other industrial leaders.

The market closed lower.

MERE MENTION.

Nebraska has no reciprocal dog tax laws. A St. Louis white pit bull dog wearing a tax tag good anywhere in Missouri, was picked up on O street Monday and lodged in the humane society's shelter. No charges were filed against the dog.

The state compensation commissioner has awarded Lora M. McDonald $13.33 for five weeks, or $66.65 and $61.87 hospital expenses for an injury received June 16, 1923. The defendants are Grainger Brothers of Lincoln and the Travelers Insurance company.

Evelyn Hazel Waugh filed a divorce action against Auby McKinley Waugh, in the district court Monday morning, charging extreme cruelty, non-support and desertion. The couple were married in Pulaski, Tenn., March 16, 1922. Mrs. Waugh asks that her maiden name, Evelyn Isley be restored.

Vincent Salvatierra who was brought from the state reformatory at Green Bay, Wis., by Constable Immenhausen, arriving Monday morning, was arraigned in Justice Hawes'court the same forenoon where he pleaded guilty to a charge of making, drawing and uttering a no fund check and was bound over to the district court. He did not furnish the bond which was set at $500 and was taken to the county jail. The check for $85 was given to Magee's Clothing company March 10 and was drawn on the First National bank of Berkeley, Cal. He was serving a sentence for a similar offense in the Wisconsin reformatory and was extricated on an alias warrant signed by Governor Bryan.

ROB STORE AND STEAL CAR

Thieves Active in Nebraska City Sunday—Thrity-five Suits and Dodge Touring Taken.

The robbery of the J. C. Penny store at Nebraska City and the loss of thirty-five suits were reported to Sheriff Hensel Monday morning by Sheriff Ryder of Nebraska City. The theft was not discovered until the store was opened for business Monday morning.

Twenty men's suits and fifteen boys' suits were taken. A Dodge touring car, model 1922, was also reported stolen from a private garage there. The car had four U. S. cord tires, engine number 328624, license number 11-3990. It carried one Firestone tire as a spare. It had a sawed-off steering wheel and a motor meter.

The Dodge touring car was the property of W. H. Brown, proprietor of the Grand hotel there. A Ford touring car belonging to Glen Walden was also taken but was later abandoned near the high school grounds.

The robbers in their haste did not disturb $50 in cash in the cash drawer of the store. Sheriff Ryder, Chief of Police Cook and W. H. Brown, owner of the stolen machine, left at once for Omaha where it is thought the men were headed. One of the men suspected of the burglary has served one penitentiary sentence on a similar charge.

Last summer, the J. C Penney store at Fullerton was robbed of $5,000 in merchandise. Much of the loot was later recovered.

Brinton's Boy orchestra, made up of sixteen boys below the age of eighteen, will entertain members of the American Legion post and their guests his musicians from the Y. M. C. the Legion club rooms, Sixteenth and O. George S. Brinton organized the group several years ago, getting music, vocal and instrumental s A. and scout troops, and they often play in public or for clubs. Their programs include, besides orchestra at a meeting Monday evening in olos, readings, and novelties of various kinds.

HASKETT PLANS ARE A BIT INDEFINITE

Bootlegger Serving Out Sentence Does Not Know How He Will Support His Family When He Gest Out.

William Haskett, again serving a jail sentence for his alleged moonshining activities, is in hard lines. He owns right up and admits it himself. Himself, his wife, and eight little Hasketts are now wholly dependent on the county for their groceries and the landlord is threatening to evict Mrs. Haskett and the children from their present address at 2700 A street.

According to the county commissioners the Haskett family has been onthe needy list almost all winter. Mr. Haskett is crippled and has a steel hook in place of a left hand.

When interviewed behind the bars he was unable to state his plans for supporting his family after his release May 9, which will terminate his laying out the $100 fine imposed by the court tor the last escapade. He states that he is a bookkeeper and an insurance agent and had been planning to raise a truck garden if the landlord will let him stay on the place when he gets out, but he isn't sure what he will do.

LEGION PROGRAM VARIED

Old Soldiers and Spanish War Veterans to Be Guests—Music by Boy Orchestra.

American Legion post No. 3 will have a varied program for the Monday evening meeting. Members of the G. A. R. and Spanish-American war veterans will be guests of the post. O. C. Bell, department commander of the G. A. R. and Col. J. H. Presson will be among the guests, and the Spanish-American veterans will be represented by Commander Claude P. Hensel, Otto Meier and others.

The musical program will be furnished by Brinton's boys' orchestra, an organization of Lincoln boys, under the direction of C. E. Brinton.

The business session of the meeting will consider plans for Decoration day and the participation of Lincoln post in the district "pep" meeting of the legion, to be held at Auburn on the evening of May 2.

MEN AND THINGS

How quickly the jingoism in us comes to the top! Here we were going along and regarding the Jap with complacence and friendliness, when all of a sudden the minister at Washington warns us that if we refuse to continue the gentlemen's agreement, "grave consequences" would follow. Ha, he threatens us, said we, and immediately we start to applaud the senate for immediately abrogating it. We toss aside our peace garments, reach for our trusty blade and cry out for the consequences to come on, we are ready. We may talk pacificism till we are black in the face, but there is part payment for additional land bought by by a belligerent person starts to twanging and we remember that we are human after all. The one satisfaction is that we get angry less readily and less often than we formerly did.

One of the magazines prints a lengthy story from a man who was sent specially into Montana and North and South Dakota to investigate the bankrupt condition of the farmers. He finds that is due to two things largely, land speculation and too much credit. That his deductions are sound one need only read his premises. Another corroborating factor is that the same things are at the bottom of the farmers' troubles in Nebraska. One of the best posted loan brokers in the state says that most of the foreclosures are of mortgages given as payment of additional land bought by farmers farmers and that in many cases the shrinkage in values was so great that the farmer's original holdings were swept into the maelstrom.

They are still milling around down at Washington, each group of partisans accusing the other and trying to find something that will discredit them, but the people are fed up on politics and investigations, and none of them will discuss the mess any more. This was to have been expected. Starting in as a very proper and necessary bit of probing it degenerated into a jockeying for political position. Instead of facts as were at first brought out, the whole performance became a mess of hearsay testimony not admissible in any court because repugnant to our sense of fair play. That is what killed off interest in Washington investigations.

Most of our troubles we bring upon ourselves. That is an old truth that doesn't grow old. We are always striving to elevate what we call our standards of living, which means generally to live in more luxurious surroundings, to be able to buy hothouse fruits if we want them. This has the effect of elevating the cost of living on us, and then we break our backs trying to earn enough additional profits or wages to maintain us in a condition that requires our breaking our backs to secure. The simple life is not always lived by the simple.

Signs of Spring: The number of persons who drive two miles to the golf courses in order to walk four miles around the courses seems to be larger this April than last. x x x The noise heard around the city hall these days is attributable largely to the effort of Mayor Zehrung to decide what color of band to wear around the straw hat he proposes springing shortly on the people as soon as he decides what kind of hat to get. x x x The impassioned colors of the hosiery worn by the young women are making the streets almost as attractive as the advertising columns.

Sometimes our newspaper instinct gets so far the upper hand of us that we feel like praying that there might be a democratic deluge in the election merely for the purpose of the joy of witnessing bow unitedly Charley Pool, Clarence Harman, Louie Langhorst and the other democratic state officers would not get behind the governor's executive plan. This, you recall, is to have the present code departments supervised by a group of state officers who would be responsible for everything that was done therein, while the governor would have the entire patronage of them at his disposal. You recall the butcher who, when told by a woman customer that he was asking twice as much for his sausages as a rival across the street who did not have any in stock, said he could sell just as cheaply if he had none, either. That was why the democrats in the last legislature supported the plan then. The state officers affected were all but one republicans.

Keep the "oil of joy" out of your car if you would not come to grief.

If you can't see the other man's point of view don't expect anybody to see yours.

ABE MARTIN

Mrs. Em Nugent has a letter from her son, who's in jail at Kokomo sayin' he's goin' t' saw out jest as soon as ther's enough prisoners t' form a quarfet. A mother's first duty is t' her home an' family, an' then it don't make any difference whether she's a democrat or a republican.

BRAIN TESTS

(By Sam Loyd.)

Five Minutes to Answer This.

Farmer Smith and his wife say that the race suicide scare is of no account down their way, as they have fifteen children born at intervals of one year and a half. Miss Pocahontas, the eldest of the children, who is reluctant about mentioning her age, admits she is seven times older than Captain John, jr., the youngest of the brood.

Can you assist the census man in figuring out the age of Miss Pocahontas?

Answer to Yesterday's.

Macadam minus Dam plus Tea plus Mule minus Team plus Yowl minus Owl leaves Macauley.

OUR DAILY PUZZLE

(By Walter Wellman.)

Take a letter from the name of the first object; one from the second, etc., and have a kind of building material. Repeat and have another. Repeat again, and have still another.

Answer to last puzzle: The objects are slate, core, awl, keys, star, moon, do, pan. The four rivers are Arkansas, Potomac, Red and Yellowstone.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says so many people are leaving the farms that fear is expressed of a food shortage but she guesses there isn't much ground for alarm when so much food is produced in the cities, where most of the big meal packing plants and bakeries and breakfast food factories are located.

THURSDAY MAY 1ST. THE CONTEST CLOSES FOR THE BEST NAME FOR THE HEALTH WATER = SEND IN YOUR SUGGESTION
SAY, HALF DIME, THAT GUY SWARTS WAS IN AGAIN AND OFFERED ME $5000 FOR MY ESTATE — I DROPPED SOME SAND ON MY TRACKS TO KEEP FROM SLIDDING AND I ASKED HIM $7500 — IF HE COMES BACK AGAIN I MIGHT FALL SO WE'D BETTER GET THOSE PARTNERSHIP PAPERS FIXED UP
THE WATER FROM THE WELL THAT MAKES YOU WELL AND KEEPS YOU WELL
MY WORD HAS ALWAYS BEEN GOOD BUT WHEN YOU'RE DOING BUSINESS WITH A GUY WHOSE FOREHEAD IS ONLY A DIVIDING LINE BETWEEN HIS EYEBROWS AND HIS HAIR YOU'VE GOT TO PIN HIM DOWN WITH WRITTEN AGREEMENTS
YOU STEP IN TOMORROW — I'LL HAVE AN ATTORNEY DRAW UP PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENTS - YOU'D BETTER BRING SOME ONE WITH YOU THAT CAN UNDERSTAND LEGAL PHRASEOLOGY SO IF YOU SHOULD EVER GET DISSATISFIED WITH THE AGREEMENT YOU CAN'T GO AROUND AND TELL PEOPLE I TOOK ADVANTAGE OF YOU WITH MY SUPERIOR INTELLECT!
